

218 RECEIVE ATHLETIC AWARDS AT H.S. BANQUET

First graduating class of two in 1910 becomes 196 in 1950, 40 years later

by VERA FOLKMAN

When it was announced that 196 students would receive diplomas this year from the Arlington Heights Township high school it prompted this reporter to delve into the history of the school.

Forty years ago, 1910, saw the first class receive its twelfth grade diplomas. They were George Klehm (deceased) and Esther Stanger (Mrs. August Rennak, Glenview). Five students were in the 1911 graduating class, viz: William F. Meyer Jr., David Paddock, Warren Parker, Paul Davis and Hester Guild. High school in those days was part of the grade school system, having its own teachers, but governed by the grade school board and principal. Classes were held in the old public school building which was torn down when the new North school was built.

IT WASN'T TILL 1914 that a high school district was formed by an election, which was contested and finally won by the women's vote. The legality of the district was fought by Palatine and Mt. Prospect for eight years and finally settled in 1922 in the supreme court. During the litigation, Arlington grabbed two sections of Palatine, including present race track, the taxes from which help support the Arlington Heights high school while the elementary school taxes go to Palatine.

The 1914 election gave the high school its own board, which was made up of Theodore Miller, president; George K. Volz, secretary; Herman Garms, George Klehm, W. E. Shirra, George Busse and William Kirchhoff. These men worked hard to get a bond issue of $42,000 approved at that time by the voters, which was never issued on account of the litigation then pending. Plans for erecting the new school upon a 10 acre tract in the Duntun subdivision came to naught and the proposed site became subdivided and homes were built where the school house was to stand.

Final decision by the courts in 1922 ruled that Arlington high school was rightfully organized. The many years of litigation had become burdensome and the entire district felt relieved at its final termination, and, once more united, by a vote of 696 to 118, overwhelmingly authorized the issue of $75,000 in bonds and the purchase of 11 acres at the present high school site.

THE HIGH SCHOOL board of education saw some changes during the eight years of its existence, but three of the original board members remained to see the fruit of their labors, viz: Herman Garms, George Klehm and George K. Volz, the latter acting as secretary during the entire period.

In 1922, when the cornerstone for the present school was laid, there were only 58 students attending high school. Still the board had enough foresight to erect a 21 room school, which graduated its first class, 10 students, in 1923. During that year the school was operated by a staff of five teachers including the principal. In 1928 it was necessary to add a wing on the school and increase the staff to 10 teachers and one principal. In those days it cost between $25,000 and $30,000 to run the school, which included the payments on the bond issue.

NOW, 40 YEARS LATER, Arlington Heights township high school has become a big time operation. Classrooms will number well over 50 when the new addition is completed next fall, with added facilities of two gyms, cafeteria and library. It will take a staff of 50 teachers, one principal, five janitors, five cafeteria workers, four office employees and one matron to keep the system functioning smoothly. Monies now appropriated for the school amount to $440,000.

In just 27 years the enrollment has increased from 38 to well over 1,000 students and its curriculum rates with the top schools in the state. Much credit is due the fighting forefathers who gave Arlington high its beginning, and made it possible for 2,370 students, including this year's graduates to receive high school diplomas.

FORREST DAVIS ATTENDS NATIONAL MUNICIPAL CLERK'S CONFERENCE

Forrest Davis, Arlington Heights village clerk, left Tuesday morning for Cincinnati, O. where he is attending a conference of the National Institution of Municipal Clerks. He was accompanied by Charles Richards, village clerk of Park Ridge. They will return home Saturday.

165 to receive diplomas from grade schools

The four elementary grade schools in Arlington Heights will break all past records for grade school graduates this year when a total of 165 students will receive diplomas at three different commencement programs.

North and South public schools will hold joint exercises at the Arlington Heights high school, 8 p. m., June 7, giving diplomas to 99. A dinner for the graduates will be held June 5 at the North school.

Harold G. Shane of Northwestern university will give the graduation address, and the invocation will be given by Rev. William F. Kampfenkel, St. John Ev. and Ref. church.

ST. PETER Evangelical Lutheran school will issue diplomas to 27 graduates. The commencement will be held at South public school, at 8 p. m., June 9. A class dinner party will be held May 29 in St. Peter school dining hall.

St. James Catholic school will give diplomas to 39 students June 11, at 9:30 a. m. high mass. An address to the graduates will be given by Father George Stier.

Following the Mass a breakfast will be served to the graduates by the students of the seventh grade. The graduates-to-be are enjoying an outing today, Thursday, at Brookfield Zoo and Riverview.

Auxiliary members of the Arlington Heights Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981 will be on street corners all day Friday to sell the Buddy Poppies to those who wish to contribute to the disabled veteran's fund.

The public is well acquainted with the purpose to which the VFW puts funds collected on this day. Arlington Heights people can be depended upon to do their part.

Arlington CC exposes another brand of racketeers

In the course of the past week, Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce has again exposed to local residents and business people an organization which has attempted to obtain donations via long distance telephone calls.

The calls came from 69 W. Washington in Chicago and asked for donations anywhere from $25 to $150.00 for the Cook County Regular Republican Organization. According to a report from the Chicago Better Business Bureau the solicitor has no connection with the Republican Organization.

"Before you invest — Investigate," says Sec. Schwengel. "Any time you are approached for contributions, subscriptions to magazines, advertising or the like, if you do not know the party or organization, if anything looks or sounds suspicious, investigate before you invest. It is the aim of the Chamber of Commerce to lessen, if not rid, the community of this type solicitations."

The veteran's subscription workers came to grief in Mt. Prospect recently when they asked a service station manager to exchange a lot of small bills for large denomination. The station man phoned Mt. Prospect police who rounded up the solicitors and kicked them out of town.

If all housewives and their husbands would refuse to do any business with solicitors, without proper credentials from the local police, racketeers would give Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine a wide berth.

Norwegian Lutheran pastor purchases Arlington Rest Home

Rev. and Mrs. Harold S. J. Ellingsen will be owners and operators of Arlington Rest Home commencing July 1. Rev. Ellingsen is well known among theologians. He is the author of the Ellingsen Index Systems, "100 SOS Books," Homiletic Theaurus in 3 volumes and other works. He does not intend to give up such work and will build a building adjacent to the rest home to house his library where he will continue to work.

His wife was formerly matron of the Norwegian Old Folks home at Norwood Park and will have active charge of the Arlington Rest Home.

Walter Hansen, to whom has fallen all the responsibility of the home since the death of his wife, will take a much needed rest.

Former Heights boy written up in Newsweek

Gustav Niemeyer, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Niemeyer, left Arlington Heights many years ago, but the fame he has attained in the world was brought to the attention of Arlington Heights friends last week by the Newsweek Magazine, which had this to say about "our Gus," in its issue of May 22.

"THE AVERAGE American depends on silver from morning to night. Silver contacts in his electric alarm clock awaken him in the morning. He shaves before a silvered mirror and eats his breakfast with silver or silver-plated tableware. At the office, silver contacts keep his telephone working. Back home at night, his television entertainment depends on silver contacts and other set parts.

"He has probably never heard of Handy & Harman. But the chances are that the silver for these uses was originally sold by the firm.

"Handy & Harman, dealer and refiner of precious metals, is an 83-year-old firm with headquarters in a 70-year-old building on Gold and Fulton streets in New York. It has a main plant in Bridgeport, Conn., and others in Los Angeles, Chicago, Providence, and Toronto.

"ABOUT TWO-THIRDS of this silver—a fourth of the world's output—then goes to such companies as International Silver, Oneida and Towle, and ends up as silverware in American homes. Handy & Harman sells the remainder to the chemical industry (for photographic negatives), to the electrical industry (for contacts), and as industrial brazing alloys, dental-filling amalgams, or pharmaceuticals.

"Handy & Harman's specialization in precious metals makes it a rarity among American industrial companies: It does a yearly business of around $100,000,000 with only 800 employees. "The man who has probably done the most to make silver into an 'industrial' instead of a precious metal and to spread its use beyond the ornamental field is a former Arlington Heights newsboy and grocery clerk, Gustav Niemeyer. Last week he celebrated his 50th anniversary with Handy & Harman.

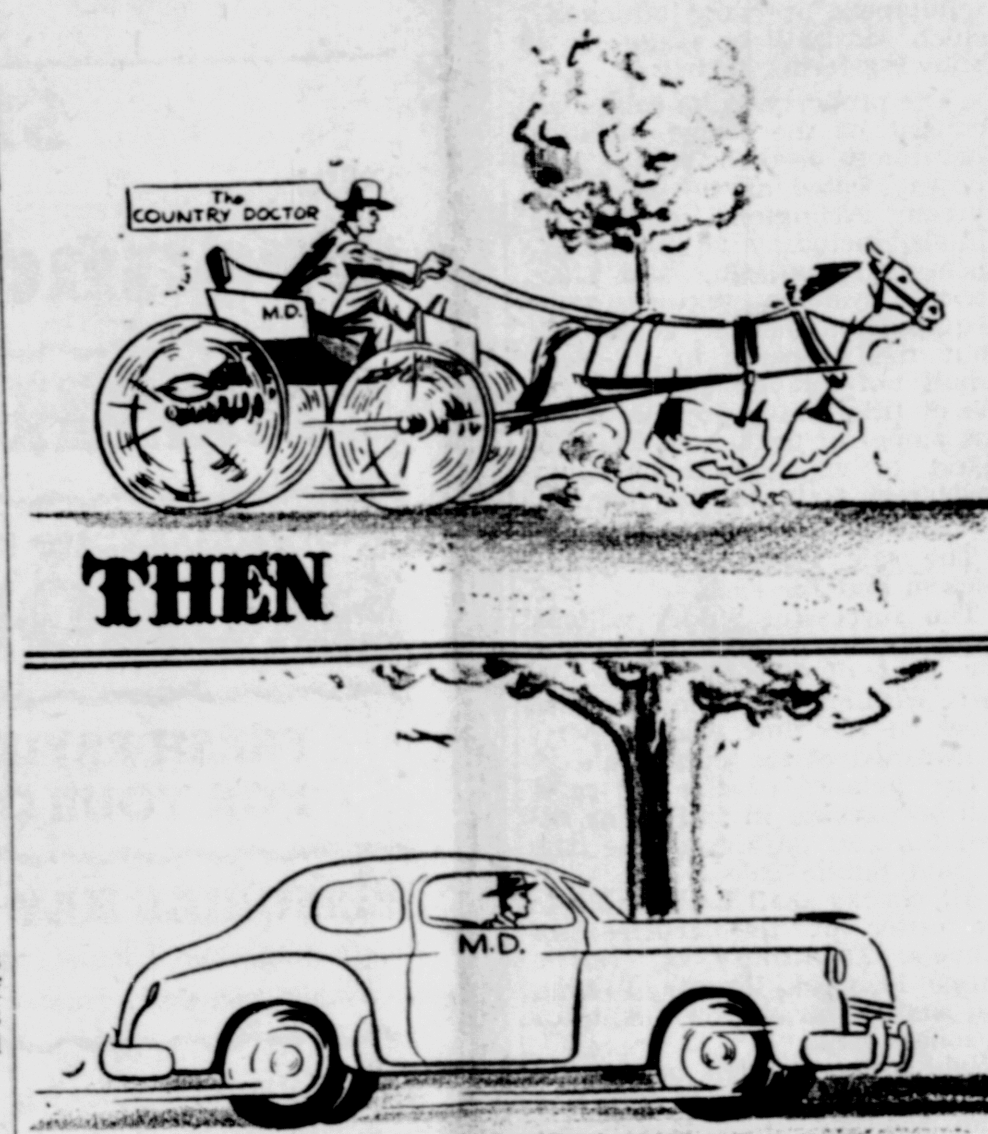

"NIEMEYER, the firm's first salesman and president since 1938, taught manufacturers the value of industrial brazing alloys made from silver. These alloys eliminated the need for threaded metal pipes at the joints and saved valuable time and money in the wartime output of planes, ships, and tanks.

"Niemeyer believes the company's growth today depends on finding still more industrial uses for its brazing alloys. Silver—the best electrical conductor known—also is finding an ever widening market in such sensitive electrical equipment as radar, proximity fuses, guided missiles, and giant electronic computers."

Mr. Niemeyer is a brother of Mrs. Otto Bolte and Herman Niemeyer both of Arlington Heights.

Here's our chance!

Residents of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect are being offered two opportunities this week to aid charitable causes right in their own home towns.

The first of these is tonight, Thursday, and is known as the Bill Creamer benefit track meet, which is being given for Mr. Creamer, Arlington high school teacher, who is seriously ill and in the hospital.

The other, called "This Is It" features the Des-Mount-Ar! Talent Teens, who have been bringing cheer to thousands of hospitalized veterans for the past two years and want to continue doing so. Proceeds will go into a transportation fund.

Neither of these events are asking for something for nothing, as citizens who attend will be repaid by two evenings of first rate entertainment, one in the sports world and the other in the theatrical world. Participants in both shows, which will be held at the high school, will be the "cream of the crop."

Both are worthy causes and deserve the support of the general public!

Creamer benefit tonight, Thursday; expect big crowd

Tonight, Thursday, is Bill Creamer night at Arlington Heights high school, when five schools will compete in a benefit track meet, which is being given to aid Bill Creamer, former high school teacher, who is seriously ill and in the hospital.

FIELD EVENTS will begin at 7:30 p. m., and running events will start at 8:30 p. m.

Eight more donors have added money to the Creamer fund this week. They are: Rex Volz $10, Mt. Prospect Athletic club 10, Harry Knack 25, Jack Aldrich 5, A. H. Woman's club 5, A. H. Nurses club 25, Arlington Seating Co. 10, Cardinal Merrinettes (5 freshmen girls) 10.

by Kenneth Messenger, Legion commander. "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner" will be sung by the entire assembly, accompanied by the Arlington Heights high school band.

Saturday is deadline for concert campaign

Saturday at 6 p. m. is the deadline for all membership subscriptions in the Arlington Heights Community Concert association.

Four excellent concerts a year featuring internationally known artists are available to all residents of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Inverness and Wheeling who purchase memberships in the association. There are no single admission tickets. The price of membership subscriptions are 6 dollars per person (5 dollars plus 1 dollar tax).

The membership campaign opened with an annual dinner meeting for all workers, the executive committee and the board of directors at the Mt. Prospect Country club Monday evening.

At the meeting Mrs. Arthur H. Franzen, general chairman of the group, paid tribute to Gale Blocki Jr., president of the organization, who conceived the idea two seasons ago of promoting better music in the community by bringing the finest in entertainment to the area at a nominal fee.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. Florence Strandberg, field representative of Community Concert Service. She stressed the fact that musical achievement in our country today is the greatest in the world, and the demand for good music is overwhelming. Good music is a necessary factor in the artistic growth of a community, and to see and hear great music in person is a wonderful opportunity, indeed.

A movie featuring Charles Kullman and the Men of Song, Constance Keene, pianist, Nadine Connor, soprano, and Tossy Spivakovsky, violinist, was shown and concluded the meeting.

The two year drive, as in the two other years, is to accept new memberships from past members and to enroll new members. While a canvass is being made throughout the entire territory, Community Concert Headquarters have been established at 11 W. Davis st., Arlington Heights, where workers are asked to report and all wishing to join may come in person or telephone. The number is Arlington Heights 445.

Mrs. Milton Haase, president of the Arlington Heights Woman's club has announced that there will be no Sunday Evening Lecture Series next season, and she hopes that all who supported the lecture series will turn their support to the Community Concert association.

Artists for the season will be chosen at the end of the drive.

Arlington police get auto thief on tip-off of Palatine boy

Fate played into the hands of Erwald Weide, Palatine, Saturday and resulted in the capture of Donald Sullivan, 15, Chicago, who, after wrecking one car, stole a second car from Dan Schmeichel, Stonegate Tavern, Arlington Heights.

Sullivan, with two companions, all 15 years of age, had stolen the car of John Finiym, 3639 N. Pontiac, to give some friends a ride to Barrington. Traveling southeast on North-west highway toward Chicago, they hit a pole at Douglas st., completely wrecking the car.

As the Arlington squad car neared the scene of the accident, Sullivan escaped by running over the tracks. Shortly afterward the Master Electric Co. phoned the police station that somebody was working around the parked cars near that place.

By the time the police arrived the car had disappeared. It was learned later that the radiator of the car was without water and the driver abandoned the car at Des Plaines.

Weide, who had witnessed the accident at Arlington was driving south on River road and when hailed by a hitch-hiker recognized him as the missing Sullivan.

Weide took the boy as far as Grand and River road, where he excused himself for a moment, entered a gas station and phoned Arlington police, who in turn asked the River Grove police to take the boy into custody, which they did.

All three boys were turned over to their parents, who agreed to settle the damage bill of the cars. It was their first offense. Lieut. Karstens and Officer McDougal handled the case.

School board, coaches, fans, dads pay tribute to sportsmanship

Two-hundred and two athletes and 16 cheerleaders received awards at the annual athletic banquet held at Arlington Heights high school Tuesday evening. Wally Grace, the athletic director, and the coaching staff presented the awards.

The toastmaster, LeRoy J. Knoepfel, principal, welcomed the guests and introduced the coaches, the members of the school board, and Mr. Johnson, associate of George Halas, Chicago Bear coach.

Bernie Masterson, a former Chicago Bear and All-American, now coach at Iowa university, was a guest of Rex Volz at the banquet. He extended his wishes for luck to the athletes.

Marty Maher gave a toast from the school board. In his toast he paid tribute to the achievements of Arlington Hts. teams and especially the fine spirit of sportsmanship which they have developed.

SPEAKING AS A FAN, Harry Robinson, village trustee, expressed pride in being a part of the Arlington Heights community and the spirit which has grown up around the high school.

Bob Blackburn spoke for the dads, and asked for more support from the dads in the community. Special tribute was paid to Dr. H. J. Carr, high school physician, for his concern and the time he has devoted to the athletes.

Mr. Grace pointed out that this was a lean year in sports for Arlington Heights; there were 73 wins and 57 losses, the lowest percentage in five years. But, he said, Arlington Heights has proved they can take it, and that victories do not mean everything. The boys have given their all.

MR. GRACE was proud of the outstanding showing of the track team at the Palatine Relays. The boys ran their hearts out for their ill coach, and also did their best out of respect and admiration for their new coach.

Washington Serini, guard for the Chicago Bears, was guest speaker of the evening. He told various anecdotes and stories about his college and pro-football days. He also answered questions about the Bears and professional football.

The cafeteria was gaily decorated in cardinal and white, and a delicious dinner was served by Miss Mary Handlin and the cafeteria staff, with the assistance of the office staff, several members of the faculty, and a few faculty wives.

A list of those who received awards will be published next week.

Single delivery mail service goes into effect in Arlington this week

The order also prohibits patrons from phoning the post office or calling at same in person to ascertain if mail arrived for them after the carriers had left on their respective routes.

Dr. Bauer unable to speak to Child Study group tonight

Tonight, Thursday, Dr. W. W. Bauer was slated to speak before the PTA Child Study Group of Arlington Heights. Due to his being called out of town to attend a meeting of national importance the meeting has been canceled.

Mrs. Kenneth Wessling, chairman, wishes to thank the committee and all the parents and teachers who helped so faithfully this year to complete the Study group.

The following persons served on the committee and made possible the wonderful programs of the past year. Mesdames James Black, William Bott, Paul Fellinham, Frank Foster, Edward Lyon, Herbert Hahmed, Steven Murphy and William Shasberger.

Christian Science church buys lot for new building

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Arlington Heights has purchased the three lots at the southeast corner of Evergreen and Grove on which it will erect a new church building.

The youthful bike rider can not be in such a hurry that he can not take the same time to park his bike as his parents do to park their car when going shopping.

The mayor has asked Chief Skoog to find probable locations and will turn his suggestion over to the business men through the local Chamber of Commerce.

Bikes will not be allowed to be parked on sidewalks.

Street parade to herald Marionette circus in Arlington June 4

All the kids are talking about the Cole Marionette Circus which the Arlington Heights Fire Department is bringing to town June 4.

An old time street parade will start the show rolling at 1:30 p. m., and the first of the three shows that day will begin at 2:30 p. m., under the "big top" to be set up at the North school. A second performance will begin at 4:30 and a third at 8 p. m. Proceeds will go into the Firemen's fund.

When George Coles of Palos Park first started carving marionettes as a hobby, little did he and his able assistant, his wife, dream that on Sunday, June fourth, 1950, he would be putting into action one of the world's largest marionette productions. The circus marionettes are an outgrowth of many years of experimentation with different sizes, scales and historical review.

Built practically on one-half scale, the circus marionettes are not only far larger than the average marionette on television, but more versatile. The lady elephant trainer, the sea lions, the clown band, all perform with amazing and amusing likeness to their real life counterparts.

A life managerie of assorted small animals was recently purchased from a famous wild animal trainer which is housed in specially carved cage wagons. These animal dens, with a live circus band riding atop the bandwagon and followed by an old time calliope are a daily feature of the old time circus parade presented by the Cole Marionette Circus.

Arlington grade school students break 5 records at fourth annual Play Day

The fourth annual "Play Day" was held at the Arlington Heights Public Schools last Thursday from 1 until 4 p. m. This afternoon of activities gave the 193 boys and girls of the seventh and eighth grades an opportunity to compete on a friendly basis in track and field events.

Instruction and practice of these events makes up about half of the physical education program in the spring, and the competition of Play Day is a fitting climax. First, second, and third place ribbons are awarded for each event.

SOME FINE performances were turned in this year as five records were broken and one tied. In the seventh grade competition, Ted Simroe's high jump of 4' 9" broke the old record of 4' 8" set last year by Tom Livingston and Dave Harris. Richard Kyska broke both the broad jump and 100 yard dash records. His 14' 9 1/2" in the broad jump was one foot better than the 13' 9" record of Tom Theis set in 1948. Richard also ran the 100 yard dash in 12.7 seconds to take 4/5 of a second off the old record, as did Dick Malcolmson, who tied with Richard in this event.

In the eighth grade, Bob Dotts equalled the high jump record of 4' 6" set last year by Herb Gorder and Dick MacAuliffe. Probably the most outstanding performance of the day was turned in by Dick Winterbauer when he threw the 8 pound shot 48' 2" to better the mark set by Jim Schwartz in 1947 of 45' 8". Carroll Werner ran the 100 yard dash in 11.5 seconds, taking one second off the old record.

HERE'S HOW A&P SELLS HAMS WEIGHING LESS THAN 16 LBS.

We say a HALF HAM means a ham CUT IN TWO, with no center slices taken out. That's just what you get at A&P. And that's something to remember when you compare half-ham prices.

AND HERE'S HOW A&P SELLS HAMS WEIGHING 16 TO 20 POUNDS

We cut 16 to 20 pound hams so that average families can take advantage of the extra value offered. (See picture below.) A&P does not handle hams weighing over 20 pounds, because the meat is apt to be coarse and tough.

Census Bureau asks 'missed persons' to be counted by mail

Nearly two months have passed

ed since the census takers started calling at every home in their particular area. "Call-backs" have been numerous and a perfect score has probably been obtained by few enumerators.

The census bureau has asked all newspapers to help in counting the missed persons. A blank for that purpose will be found on page 22.

If the enumerator has missed you or your family, cut out the blank, fill it out and mail it to the Census Bureau, Waukegan, Ill.

The 1950 census figures will stand for ten years. Many federal and state allotments will be based on the authentic population figure of each community. It is important from a civic standpoint that every person in every community be counted. It will mean a lot of dollars to the local taxing bodies between 1950 and 1960. The village share of gas tax monies depends upon its population.

Troop 9 of the Arlington Hts. Girl Scouts went to Camp Pine last Friday on an overnight. Thirteen girls were accompanied by Mrs. John Latta, the leader, Mrs. Ralph Lohse, and Mrs. Melvin Born.

Troop 7, whose leader is Mrs. Carl Scheske, went on a week end at Camp Pine last week end. The girls made curtains for their cabin and that week end they put them up.

'This Is It!' - starring Des-Mount-Arl Talent Teens - at high school Friday

The Des-Mount-Arl Talent Teens will present "This Is It!" at the Arlington Heights high school gym this Friday evening, at 8 p. m.

Twenty-three youngsters are prepared to give to citizens of this area one of the best talent shows ever to be presented on an Arlington Heights stage. The Teens have been in "show business" for nearly two years and are well qualified to give an outstanding performance.

Patrons who attend will be amazed at the amount of talent which exists in this vicinity—they will be given an evening of outstanding entertainment and they will be aiding a cause (hospitalized veterans) which should never be forgotten.

PROCEEDS WILL go into a transportation fund for the Talent Teens to enable them to continue giving shows for hospitalized veterans and other charitable organizations. They have entertained thousands of veterans during the past two years and already have three shows scheduled for the coming weeks.

Cub Scouts

If anyone told you the air was full of flying saucers last Sunday afternoon, don't believe it. The air was full of Arlington Heights Cub Scout kites. This was the annual kite flying party and it was a success. The mothers and dads having as much fun as the boys.

Kites of every size and description were to be seen. Now to look forward to the NOWESCO outing at Rand park in Des Plaines on Sunday, June 4. Be sure to set that day aside and get the literature from your Den Dad regarding this.

eski, Ronnie Hunt and Carol Ann DeLoof.

Nancy McCarty and Carol Ann DeLoof are new members of the troop and will make their first appearances Friday night. Nancy plays the violin and Carol Ann is a singer.

MRS. J. M. BOSCH, director of the Des-Mount-Arl Talent Teens, names the following adults who will be the supporting cast for "This Is It": Mrs. Jane Hansen, Mrs. Elsie Slottag, Miss Zwane and Sgt. Oscar Johnson of the Arlington Heights Police Department. Dick Michalski will serve as Master of Ceremonies and the musical background will be furnished by Mrs. Edna Andrew, piano; Melvin Landmeier, guitarist; and Herb Slottag, drums. Mrs. Charles Stadell is assistant director.

Amazing tale of adventure told at Nurse's club meeting

An adventurous tale of traveling 6,000 miles alone in an Indian dugout canoe was related by John S. Schultz before the members of the Arlington Heights Nurse's club and their guests Friday night at the Methodist Meeting House gymnasium.

The evening began with the presentation of several numbers by the high school Madrigal Singers. This was followed by Mr. Schultz' delightfully informal lecture of his extraordinary experience entitled "Sea Fever." He began his trip in May of 1947 at the age of 18. The starting point was Quito, Ecuador, and he started on his sojourn across the Andes with $21.60 in his pocket, a knapsack with some supplies, a knife and a gun. John walked 23 miles the first day, and when he finally completed his hike across the Andes his feet were covered with blisters. He purchased an Indian dugout canoe from a native for $2.50 and started his journey down the river through dense jungles, staying overnight with natives in isolated communities in the jungle, and securing his own food, or helping the natives eat theirs. The river lead into the Amazon and he purchased another dugout which he called "Sea Fever," after his favorite poem by John Massfield. He outriggered the dugout with a sail and a pump, and sailed up the southeastern coast of South America to Trinidad. John endured a great many hardships, suffered from terrible boils as a result of the constant seepage of water into the dugout, experienced a hazardous tussle with a shark, but, he said, had a lot of time to daydream, which was his major form of occupation during the voyage.

The last lap of the journey was from Trinidad to Miami, Fla., and Mr. Schultz arrived in Miami June 30, 1948.

He says of his trip, one of the most unusual and amazing voyages of modern times, that it wasn't the kind of trip he expected, as he thought it was going to be adventurous, and yet all the adventurous things he expected didn't happen. It was, most of all, an adventure of the spirit.

Mr. Schultz, who is now 21, will graduate from the University of Chicago in June. He will go on with graduate study in mathematics in fall. As an added touch he brought along his dugout, "Sea Fever," for all present to inspect, and everyone marveled at the fact that this astonishing voyage could have been made in such a craft.

Birthday Parties

Billy Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Warren, celebrated his 4th birthday May 21 by having a party. As each little guest arrived he or she was presented with a U. S. Marshal badge, which each pinned on and wore with much importance during the party. Many games were played, and Bill Bradford, being the older boy, greatly assisted Mrs. Warren in playing and supervising new games. When the children came into the dining room and saw the favors at each place they squealed with delight. There were little plastic cowboys and Indians, detachable, mounted on little horses, all in various colors. With these, plus the badges, the youngsters were all for going home and changing into their cowboy togs, and returning to the party. They did justice to the ice cream, cake and candy, as well. Billy's guests were Timmie Garasha, Caroline and Bill Bradford, his sister, Ann, Jeffrey Allison, Pam and Billy McClaughry, Sandy Schultheis and Suzanne Ortis.

Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Taylor gave a birthday party in honor of their niece, Mrs. Lois Huffman of Hollywood, Calif., May 21. Twelve guests took part in the celebration, including Mrs. Huffman's sister, Miss Terry Boris, also of Hollywood, Calif.

Diana Gorev marked her 10th birthday by having a picnic supper at Deer Grove. A few of her girl friends helped her celebrate, and they had fun roasting wieners and toasting marshmallows out in the open. They presented Diana with very nice gifts. Diana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gorev.

A family gathering was held in the home of the William L. Johnsons, observing the birthday of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. William David Johnson of Chicago, Sunday evening. In addition to their house guests, Mrs. E. C. Johnson and Miss Ethel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cowie of Chicago were in attendance.

First Communion

Arlene Andres, 7½ years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Andres, made her first communion on Mother's Day at St. James Catholic church. After the service a large family celebration was given in her honor at home at which 75 adults and 25 children were present. Her great grandmother, Mrs. John Jacobs of Chicago; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andres of Chicago; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacobs of Arlington Heights, were all very important factors in "her day." One who was quite interested, and who has played quite a stellar role in the lives of the Andres, was Rev. Edward Kilroy of Chicago, who had married Arlene's parents. Arlene received some very beautiful gifts, among them a Benrus wristwatch from her godfather, Robert Jacobs, and a birthstone ring from her godmother, Mrs. Joseph Dudley, sister of Mr. Andres.

Also on Mother's Day, and at St. James Catholic church, Diane Dueball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Dueball, made her first communion. Later a small family get-together marked 8-year-old Diane's day. She received a St. Christopher chain and medal from her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Dueball of Arlington Heights, a gold cross and chain from a very dear friend, and from her maternal grandmother in St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. P. M. Allen, a prayer book.

On Mother's Day Kenneth Allan Mueller, 7 years old, also made his first communion at the St. James Catholic church. After the services the family left for Crystal Lake where dinner in Kenneth's honor was given by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Mueller. Mrs. Marie E. Conn, maternal grandmother in Sherman, Texas, was unable to join the family celebration, but remembered Kenneth with a gift. He also received several other gifts.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morici Jr. celebrated their 5th wedding anniversary May 21. Their dinner guests were the Senior Joseph Morici.

The pinochle club met Saturday evening at the home of Mr.

and Mrs. M. S. Malone. The card players were the Victor Beislars, the Ed Munsions and the Mark Crevistans. High score was made by Mrs. Munson and Mr. Malone.

Christening

Baby Johnny Skallerup, 4 month old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Skallerup, was christened Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church by Rev. Victor Brown. His sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller.

This was a day of double celebration, since it was also Daddy Skallerup's birthday. A buffet supper was served in observance of both occasions, so father and baby son, plus big brother Bobbie, 4 years old, had quite a day of it. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Skallerup, paternal grandparents, of Maywood, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. Lilly Hollenstein, mother of Mrs. Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Goehrendt, aunt and uncle of Johnny; Miss Jen Weibly, his great aunt, all of Chicago, and Rev. and Mrs. Victor Brown. Because of the distance, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parker, maternal grandparents, of Georgetown, Ky., were unable to be present.

An ad on value

The other night at our place, some folks were making small talk about "valuable" things.

"I guess my fur coat is my most valuable thing," one lady offered.

"My great-great-grandmother's chest of silver," another said.

One of the men allowed that his most cherished possession was a camera given him by an old Army buddy.

My wife thought a bit, then said:

"I have something that serves me 24 hours a day with no vacations, no time off, no complaints. It runs my errands, helps with my shopping, does a thousand and one things quickly and quietly—and costs only a few nickels a day."

Everybody looked at me.

"No," my wife smiled. "I don't mean my husband. I mean my telephone. Nothing I have gives me so much value for so little cost."

We all agreed she had an excellent point.

Memo to Husbands

My husband did a double take last Monday when he came home and found me writing sonnets to our gas water heater. He said he knows it's wonderful having all the hot water we ever need...he thinks automatic control that keeps all the water hot all the time is out of this world, too. But after all, says My Man, poetry is going a little far.

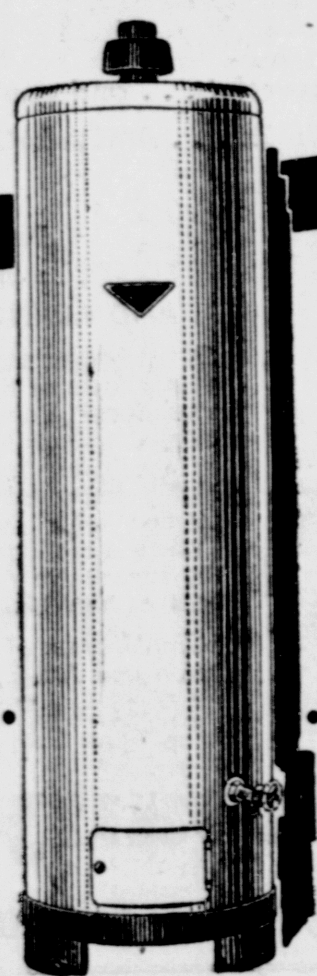

Then I explained...the laundry has gone like a breeze now I don't have to wait for water to heat. I told him about dishes that sparkle and shine when washed and rinsed with really hot water. I mentioned in passing how much faster and easier all housework is now we have our automatic gas water heater. And I reminded him of his happy showering with abundant hot water. But I really scored a point when I said I think the speed of our gas water heater is a minor miracle.

At that, Friend Husband took up pencil and pad and turned poet himself. It isn't really necessary to pamper a modern automatic gas water heater with praise...but get one yourself and see if you don't get into the mood.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

A fitting climax to a successful season was last Thursday's trip to the Morton arboretum made by 35 members of the Arlington Heights Woman's club's Garden study group. A chartered bus transported the women to the arboretum and then on to Plentywood farm for luncheon. Some of those attending were Mrs. Charles Purvis, Mrs. Paul Fernekes, Mrs. Richard Mates, Mrs. Charles Freeman, Mrs. R. J. Healey, and Mrs. R. H. Bandelow.

The Morton arboretum is near Lisle, Ill., and is named for J. Sterling Morton, the founder of Arbor day. The foundation is privately endowed by the Morton family. Admission to the grounds is free, and they are open from dawn to sunset every day.

Members of the Arlington group recommended to fellow villagers a trip to the arboretum—it's scarcely an hour's drive from here and will be well worth the trip.

While the grounds were beautiful when the Woman's club members were there, because of the late spring, they'd be even lovelier now. It's about lilac time at Morton now, and June is the month of roses there. Members of the tour were most enthusiastic of all about the flowering crab which are blooming now.

A congenial group, a pleasant ride, lovely gardens and woods and a nice luncheon helped make this tour the highlight of the study group's year.

Open house—lot style
The youngest set held forth Sunday afternoon at the Community Nursery school's open house for parents and friends, and really showed what they could do.

Of course, it was the pre-kindergarten band which proved the sensation of the afternoon's entertainment. With energetic Andy Prentice in the forefront playing the cymbals with vim and vigor, the other tots all joined in on "drums" (cereal boxes), triangles and bells.

Among the children in the group were Leslie and Barbara White, Susan Champion, Sandy Goodrich, and Freddy Bausch.

Besides hearing the performance of the band, parents had a chance to see what goes on in nursery school. They heard the children sing and play some of their games, and they saw exhibits of arts and craft work they had done previously.

At this same open house—held last Sunday at the Presbyterian church where the school regularly meets—registrations for next year were also taken. About half the places for next year are already spoken for; however, interested mothers may still call the director, Mrs. James T. Lambdin, at 7137-W afterwards for further information. Both three and four-year-olds will be accepted, with preference being given to the latter.

People are talking about . . .
The drive now underway to sell memberships for the Community Concert association's 1950-51 program of four concerts. Memberships at $6 including tax may be obtained this week only from members of the canvass committee or by calling Arlington Heights 445. Going to see "This Is It" Friday night at the high school. The highly-regarded Des-Mount-Art Talent Teens are putting on their first show for local people that evening.

Turning out en masse for tonight's William Creamer benefit track meet. Aside from being a fine cause, it'll give many people who have never seen a track meet a chance to find out what an exciting sport this is.

New officers to be inducted at St. James Mother's club spring luncheon June 7

Mrs. James B. Murphy, who has served as president of the Mother's club of St. James Catholic Women's Guild of Arlington Heights since its organization in 1948, will turn her gavel over to Mrs. Louis S. Ray June 7.

The organization will hold its annual spring luncheon at this time at the Plentywood Farm Tea Room in Bensenville at 12:45 p. m. Cards will be playing following the luncheon.

Other new officers who will be inducted at the luncheon are Mrs. William Lynch, vice-president; Mrs. Norman Dress, treasurer; Mrs. Laurence Austin, recording secretary; Mrs. David Shaughnessy, corresponding secretary. These officers will also serve in the capacity of Board of Directors.

Reservations for the luncheon will be made on or before May 31. Tickets are $1.65 per person and can be obtained from Mrs. William Lynch, 2919-R, Mrs. Louis Ray, 718-M, or Mrs. James Murphy, 243-M.

Guests will gather at St. James school at 12 noon and proceed by automobile to Bensenville. Transportation will be furnished both ways for those who do not have cars.

The luncheon marks the end of the club's activities until fall. There will be no meetings during the summer months.

Auxiliary says 'thank you'

They also thank the merchants who donated prizes for the party.

ficers at their meeting May 12.

Leyden deals Cards season's first defeat

by RON PRELLBERG

Arlington frosh-soph suffered their first defeat of the season last Friday on their own cinder course as a well rounded Leyden squad racked up a total of 66 points to out distance the Arlington total of 43 by 23. The meet was originally scheduled as a two in one contest, frosh and frosh-soph, but due to the misunderstanding by the visiting squad, they ventured to Arlington with frosh-soph material only.

The Leydenites invaded Arlington with an exceptionally strong field event combination and as the final totals were entered they had placed first in the broad jump, high jump, pole vault, discus, and the shot while Roger Ragland, Mitsch and Stacey were the only local entrants to take a second in any of these. Arlington dominated the dash department when Mike Theis took the 220 and 100 and Bill Klink the 440, but they fell back again in both the low and high hurdles and the half mile run. Outstanding performances were turned in by Ruzecki of Leyden in the 880, 2:11.8, Theis of Arlington in the 220, 24.9 and Bradley in the broad jump.

Palatine, Arlington sophs split double bill; Maine takes Card frosh-sophs

by RON PRELLBERG

A cardinal frosh-soph nine under the guidance of Coach Buz Ormsbee spelled out a victory over the Maine sophomores last Wednesday through a slashing 10-6 showing. This triumph increased the Card record to 5 wins and 2 losses, giving them a .714 percentage to date. Tom Meyer hurled for the Cards and showed great promise as he went the full seven innings and was tagged for only 6 hits, walked just 4, and sent 4 down swinging. Jim Intravartolo and Hans Schmidt made a good showing with the willow by slugging 3 hits for the 4 times they were officially at bat for their local mates.

A tally each crossed the plate for the competing squads in the first inning but Arlington's five-run second put Maine behind, 6-4, even though the home squad collected 3 themselves in the second. Maine narrowed the margin 5-4 in the third, but Arlington forced in 4 runs the following four frames to outdistance the home nine's 1 run by 3 in the final four frames.

THE LOCAL sophomores split a double header at Palatine last Saturday when they dropped the first game, 4-3, and came back in the second contest to triumph over their neighboring opponents 6-2. The double header was called because a previously scheduled meeting was rained out. Forrest Laude threw for Heights in the opening tilt and was tagged for 10 hits and 7 walks and fanned 6. A four bagger knocked out by Jim Intravartolo in the sixth of the first game headed the local batting department, while Wally Schuler's 2 hits for 2 times at bat took top honors in the second game.

Tom Meyer was placed on the mound for the Cards in the second encounter and came through beautifully by allowing 2 walks and 4 hits and striking out none. Arlington limited its scoring to one frame in the opening game by tallying 3 in the top of the sixth. Palatine scored twice in the third, once in the sixth, and once in the final inning in the first tilt. It proved to be just the opposite, however, in the second game as Arlington this time used three innings to do their scoring while the Pirates tallied in only one.

Niles loses to Crystal Lake in district final

by BOB FULLER

Nilehi varsity baseball team advanced to the finals of the Crystal Lake District in the Illinois State Baseball Championship last week by beating Maine 5-4, and Northbrook 10-0. The Trojans lost to Crystal Lake in the final game 6-4.

On Monday, the Trojans came from behind to beat Maine 5-4. Maine, state finalist last year, drew first blood in the first frame as they took advantage of a Trojan error to score two runs.

The Trojans came back in the second when Fred Brei doubled home Al Krueger and Lenny Lange for the tying runs.

In the fifth inning, another Trojan error sent two more unearned Maine runs across the plate and Maine took a 4-2 lead.

Al Krueger opened up the Trojan sixth with a triple and went sent home Lenny Lange's double. Fred Brei struck out, but singles by Mike Henry and ohn Barranco sent the tying runs across the plate. Mike Henry scored the Trojans' lead run from third on Kenny Howard's long fly.

Ralph Bruck, who went the distance for the Trojans, got into a jam by way of two more Trojan errors in the seventh but ended the game on an infield out.

Bruck limited Maine to three hits as the Trojans collected 10 off of Hanson and Fisher, Maine's pitchers.

On Wednesday, the Trojans humbled Northbrook 10-0 to gain the final test on Friday. Fred Daeschler went the distance for the Trojans as he scattered five hits to notch his first shut-out of the year.

Daeschler proved to be more effective in the clutch than his two rival pitchers, Joe Cusker and Paul Anhalt, who gave up eight hits and as many walks. Al Krueger provided the hitting punch for the Trojans as he drove in five runs with two triples and a single.

On Friday, the Trojans' old school-mate, George Crimmins, relieved starter Herman Hautsinger for Crystal Lake and held the Trojans to five hits, as Crystal Lake beat the Trojans 6-4 for the District crown. Crimmins, who left Nilehi after his freshman year, got good support from his outfielders and held the Trojans at bay while his teammates pecked away at Ralph Bruck for five runs in the last five innings.

The Trojans hopped off to an early lead when they scored three runs in a big first inning. Crystal Lake came back in the fourth when Ken Kingston stole home for the Lakers' first run. The Lakers tallied again in the fifth when Don Roderick was doubled home by Tom Parsley. The sixth inning proved to be Bruck's Waterloo as the Lakers scored four times and took a lead which they never relinquished.

The Trojans, behind for the first time in the game, couldn't come back. The only run the Men from Troy could muster up was a single tally in the eighth. Ken Howard scored from third on Bob Richter's long fly.

Fred Brei led the Trojans' losing attack with three hits. Failure to hit with men on base cost the Trojans the victory as they left 13 runners stranded.

Pirates whip Leyden, Bensenville golfers

The Palatine Township High School golf team moved two more steps nearer an undefeated season as they beat Leyden 15-0 on Monday at Twin Orchard Golf club and handed Bensenville a 13½ to 1½ whipping at Mohawk club on Tuesday. In both matches the Palatine boys shot the best golf of the season. Tom Smith shot an unbelievable 36-33-69 on Monday at Twin Orchard. The little Palatine sophomore was hot on his approach shots and put them so close that he had 15 one putt greens and a total of only 21 putts for the 18 holes. He shot four birdies, 12 pars and only two bogies. Tuesday Smith carded a 78. Harold Klapp, Palatine number one man, shot a 78 both days.

Shelby Stewart had an 80 on Monday and an 81 on Tuesday. Charley Briggs, frosh star, had 81 both days. Charles James, another freshman, had 92 and 88. Palatine has played 13 matches without defeat with one being a 7½ to 7½ tie with McHenry, who was scheduled to meet the Pirates at Inverness Wednesday in the last match of the season.

Palatine is favored to upset Northbrook's three time conference champs Monday in the league tournament at Mohawk in Bensenville if they continue their hot pace of the last few weeks.

Arlington tennis squad divides matches with Morgan Park Academy

by RON PRELLBERG

The Arlington Cardinals put their first tennis tie on record last Thursday on the local courts by swamping 1 doubles match and one of the three singles matches from a visiting Morgan Park Military Academy squad.

Bruce Collard dropped the opening singles game 7 to 5 and 6 to 3 although he displayed brilliant work both in his backfield and net maneuvers. Ken Schroeder was the second local individual to lose his point in just two sets of play.

Buddy Webber, however, came through for the Cards in his match, but it was not until two hours had elapsed before Webber was able to squirm out his tally in three sets.

Arlington brought it to 2 all in the doubles department when Charles Anderson and Charles Knapp combined their efforts to take a 6-0 decision in the first set and a 6-1 in the second. Coach McLennan will direct the Cards at Morgan Park, June the 1st, as they take up their rack-ets for a return match.

Plan horse show in July at Maywood

Chicago and the midwest were promised a horse show designed specifically to entertain the general public and to provide horsemen with the biggest summer event of its kind in the middle west by James Gilchrist, speaking at a noon luncheon of loop business executives last Thursday.

The show will be a five-performance, three-day affair to be held July 21, 22 and 23 at conveniently located Maywood Park a week after the present harness racing season ends there. Proceeds of the horse show will go to the Mary Bartelme Club, Chicago area service organization sponsoring the show.

A parade of National Guard units, music and a motorized column plus a Regimental Review coupled with a complete arms and equipment display, an awards presentation, introduction of local, county, state and military dignitaries and climaxed by a gala dance sets the stage for the Second Anniversary Celebration of the 128th Infantry Regiment, Illinois National Guard. The Anniversary Celebration will be held Saturday, May 27 in Des Plaines, Ill., according to Col. Otto L. McBride, the Regimental Commander.

Mt. Prospect vs. Haseman to open Palatine softball play Memorial Day

by DON FOSTER
Palatine softball league will start this season's play next Tuesday night, Decoration Day. The first game will start at 7:45 with the Palatine Theater team playing the Mt. Prospect A. C. The second game will be between Haseman Truckers and Fox Cleaners.

The Mt. Prospect team is sponsored by the Mt. Prospect Athletic club and is managed by Vern Soenksen. The team played last year in the Bensenville league and was beaten in the playoffs for the championship. They have a well balanced team and will be a credit to any league. Their team is built around such stars as Mel Krueger, Bill Wille, Jim Holste, Ray Goebbert, Fred Bierman, Herm Fues, Wallace Busse, Geo. Busse, Lou Haake Jr., Tony Willegal, Bob Wille, Elmer Wille, Marv Anderson, Don Freitag and Jim Goebbert.

The Palatine Theater team is sponsored by Don Foster and managed by Frank Baumrucker, a former Cleveland, Ohio, sand lot star. Most all of the team are Palatine Boys and are a young and hustling ball club.

Arlington shuts out Barrington, loses to Palatine on links

by RON PRELLBERG
A 21-0 defeat for the second time was dealt 7 Barrington linksmen last Wednesday by their Cardinal opponents on the Bronchos' home course, Baltimore Country Club. This proved another breather for the Cards as they fell to Palatine twice in the same week.

Because of a late start, Coach Larsen's local charges and Barrington were able to hole out but 11 times, counting the only two holes of the back side as the full nine. A strange, hilly, and tight course, caused Arlington's scores to rise above their average with Berwyn Rascher posting a 42, Dick Morrow and Tom Rowader setting for a pair of 43's on the front side. Parmebe, playing the number two spot for Barrington, stroked out a 48 to become Barrington's individual medalist.

Five Palatine Pirate duffers teamed up last Thursday to hand Arlington its second defeat, 10-5, of their two meetings this spring on the latter's links. Only three boys contributed to the local cause, the highest being Ron Prellberg who claimed all 3, Berwyn Rascher was second by splitting with 1 1/2 apiece, and Dick Morrow tying the back nine for the final half a point. Harold Klopp, Pirate number one shooter, poked out a 79 over the 18-hole course, while Ron Prellberg paced both squads and his local mates with a slashing 5 over par 76.

They should win a lot of games this summer. They have as a nucleus of coming stars Jim Wines, Saul Krause, Stan Hapke, Bill Wagner, Dick Colligan, Will Knigge, Butch Knigge, Phil Roche, Stomy Nagel, Les Senne, Bob Kiehl, Bob Mattern, Marv Zoelick, Mel Cook and Bob Wright.

Five run inning helps Arlington to win over Palatine

by RON PRELLBERG

A 6-3 triumph favoring the varsity red and white of Arlington evened the season baseball series with Palatine on the local field last Thursday. Beautiful ball was hurled by Arlington's starting pitcher, Lenny Koelper, until 2 were out in the fifth but a threatened rally allowed Ray Huffman to substitute for Koelper and pitch 2 1/3 innings of promising relief ball.

Two home runs caused the downfall of Koelper, but he emerged the winning pitcher. This win gave each of the four Card pitchers, Ray Huffman, Ron Miller, Lenny Koelper, and Eugene Willie, a victory.

The Pirates started the ball rolling in the first by garnering a run on hits by Fred Herberitz, Ken Kolze, a walk to Bob Senne, and Harry Griffith's error. The Pirates led, 1-0, until the bottom of the third when the Cardinals exploded for 5 big runs.

Walks to Dave Quinn, Jim Brown, Eric Nelson's homer, doubles by Bob Evans and Eddie Koska, and Ray Huffman's single accounted for the bulk of the 5 tallies.

The Pirates brought the score up to 5-3 in the top of the fifth on homers by Howard Kagay and Don Zoellick. The Red Birds collected run number 6 in the bottom of the fifth when triples were smashed out by Huffman and Leo Jewell.

This week those who shot one hole under par were: Chaffe, Golden, Patheal, Sporleder, Louthain, Meyers, Mills, Williams, Teach, LeMay and Melick.

The first three places of the Tuesday night league are now held by K. R. Whitton Inc., H. A. Dooley and Henry Kruse's teams. Wednesday leaders are Busse-Bierman, first; Hoppers Triangle Lounge, second; and Hook's Nursery, third.

Auto racing season at Milwaukee opens next month

Five major AAA speedway programs on the one-mile track and twice-weekly shows on the quarter-mile oval have been announced by President Tom Marchese of the Wisconsin Auto Racing association as the summer auto racing schedule at Wisconsin State Fair park, Milwaukee.

Marchese-promoted auto races attracted a record total of 250,000 fans to the Badger fairgrounds last summer and, with an even more attractive schedule lined up for 1950, that number may be exceeded.

Big cars, stock cars, and mid-gets will take their turns on the fast one-mile dirt track, while the Hurricane stocks will begin their weekly programs on the small saucer, Tuesday night, June 13, and the AAA mid-gets, Friday night, June 16.

Stars of the Indianapolis Memorial Day 500-mile classic will open the Milwaukee speedway season with a national championship AAA 100-mile big car race, Sunday afternoon, June 11. The next big date will be Sunday afternoon, July 9, when a national championship AAA 150-mile stock car race is scheduled. No cars older than 1949 models may be entered.

Three big days of racing have been scheduled for the 1950 Wisconsin State Fair Sunday, Aug. 20, AAA national championship 100-mile mid-gets; Thursday, Aug. 24, AAA national championship 100-mile stock car race, and Sunday, Aug. 27, AAA national championship 200-mile big car grind.

Advance ticket sales are being handled by the Wisconsin Auto Racing association, 1200 S. 1st St., Milwaukee 4.

Koske paces own team to head Rob Roy league

Koske Excavators dug themselves into a firm position at the top of the standings in the Tuesday evening frolic of the Rob Roy Twilight League.

It isn't the rule when the sponsor himself becomes the star of a team, but that has been the case with Koske by virtue of Tony Koske's 36 and 40 low gross two weeks running.

Len Arnold of Weber Addressing was the fair haired boy last Tuesday however with a sizzling 35 gross. Bob Beard was close on his heels with a 37. Bob is just coming into his own after a slow start. Blind Bogey was won by N. Funk and L. Green.

Town meetings and elections all day affairs

Township election, sixty to seventy years ago, were a lot different than they are under the Australian ballot system that was first used in Illinois in 1892.

Paddock Publications has come in possession of a number of ballots used in the "vest pocket" days when there was no such thing as official ballots. Candidates had their own ballots printed and electors carried into the polls the ballots that had been handed to them out in the street.

Balloting at township elections were halted while the annual meeting was being held and resumed at its close. Polls remained open until 7 o'clock, the moderator and other township officials staying on the job until the votes were counted. April 1, 1884 the only opposition at the election in Palatine Township were for the office of highway commissioner. The "Union Ticket" candidate was successful.

Minutes of the town meeting and election follow.

At the annual town meeting in the town of Palatine held at Hunneberg's Hall in said town in the county of Cook and State of Illinois on the first day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty four, the meeting was called to order by the town clerk, Henry Schierling, after which he took the chair and entered upon the duties of said office.

The polls were then declared open for the reception of votes and proclamation having been made thereof by the town clerk.

The hour of two o'clock having arrived and the general business of the day being in order the polls were closed for the transaction of said business.

1st. In order the Supervisors report for the year just ended was received by the Moderator.

2nd. The report of the treasurer of the board of Highway Commissioners was read by the Moderator also.

3rd. It was then motioned and carried that the board of commissioners shall constitute a committee to call the next caucus.

There being no other business to transact the meeting adjourned.

The polls were then opened again for the reception of votes and remained open until seven o'clock P.M. when they were closed, due notice having been previously given.

The Moderator then proceeded to count the ballots and found 259, which agreeing with the poll list he proceeded to canvass them with the following result.

Lyman Staples, supervisor 258
J. B. Clay, town clerk 258
J. H. Allard, assessor 254

The big issue of the election was the privilege of "working out" the road tax. It carried 115 to 101 votes. The roads were in charge of three commissioners of highways, each of whom received as a year's salary from $20 to $30. The total town expenses of the year was $390.38.

Geo. Howes, present Palatine town clerk has complete records from 1850 when the township was legally organized.

The early minutes show that there were not many fences. Owners of livestock were fined as follows for damages their property may commit: sheep 3c, bucksheep 1c, stud colts 5c, cattle amount of damage.

Owners of sheep filed with the town their brand mark.

The first town budget for the year 1850-1851 was $25.

Smart politics carry school bond election for $9,500

Even after the Australian ballot system governed regular elections, school elections were held under the old law until after the turn of the century.

Al Volz, who was a power in Arlington Heights politics in those days, recalls how he guaranteed to carry a bond election for a new school house and how he "put it over."

The old brick public school building, erected in 1867 had become too small and a small house was used for the primary grades. The little children were housed in an unsanitary place and Al Volz, then one of the directors of School District 25 told his fellow members, "you call the election and I will see that it carries."

A citizens committee opposed the bond issue of $9,500 saying the old house was good enough. The school board had four sets of ballots printed: 1. In favor of building a new school. 2. In favor of the bond issue. 3. And 4. Against the two propositions.

It had been customary to distribute ballots about the town. A voter could pick up a ballot from a store counter, carry it to the election and vote it.

Mr. Volz allowed no ballots to be publicly distributed. He had ballots on individual piles adjacent to the ballot box. If a man wanted to vote, he had to pick off from one of those piles, before the election officials, the ballot he desired to cast. Many of those who would have otherwise voted against the bond issue did not have nerve enough to publicly ask for an opposition ballot. The election carried almost four to one.

The executive committee of the Wheeling Republican Club, of which Dr. Best was president many years followed by Wm. Thienman was the organization which decided who could and could not be candidates for office and who was to get the political jobs.

Thus when Meyer Blum was deputy sheriff, he was the leg man who took the orders and was the contact man for the powers that be. Blum operated a saloon and it was not unusual for him to say "I have Wheeling township vote in my vest pocket."

In those days taverns were not required to close on election day. As the Republican ticket always won in Wheeling township there was a lot of business on election night.

MORE BLOOMS

Another Sunday and another burst of fruit blooms. This time it's the apple trees that burst into full bloom Sunday morning after showing pink buds for several days.

Seldom do all the fruit trees get to blooming at the same time, but this spring the late cold weather held them all back and then when a few warm days came they all tried to make up for lost time and one can see peach, cherry, plum, pear and apple trees all blooming at once as well as the thorn apple trees which again this spring are a mass of blossoms and a thing of beauty.

From all present indications this has the looks of being a great fruit year as all sorts of fruit trees are blooming in profusion. If nothing happens from now on the fruit crop should be a fine one.

But nurseryman friend, Bob Knupper out there on Rand road was talking the other night about having a frost this week when the moon reached the full stage. Well let's hope that he's wrong about that frost business for a killing frost now could do a lot of damage to the fruit prospects and also be a blow to a lot of truck farmers who have been ambitious and set out big fields of tomato plants.

These cold nights haven't been any good for tomato plantings, but the boys set 'em out anyhow, figuring that after all this late cool weather a break has just got to come pretty soon and some warm growing weather come along.

GOOD LUCK

Speaking about brother Knupper's frost forecast reminds us that along in January he set out a lot of tulip bulbs that didn't get set out last fall. Well it didn't seem to make much difference to the bulbs whether they were set out in October or January for we saw those Jan. tulips open at 35 degrees in the economy during the last 10 years may be gained from a glance at shoe workers' wages then and now. In January 1941 the average weekly paycheck in the industry was $19.58. In January 1950 it was $40.69, a 108 per cent boost. The cost-of-living increase for the same period, 86 per cent. Employment prospects, which haven't looked too promising for the past few months, are brightening up again. According to the Bureau of Employment Security, civilian employment will "probably equal or exceed 60,000,000 at the year's high, expected this summer."

A SCARLET FLASH

The other day we saw a sight that we hadn't seen for years, a flash of bright scarlet darting in and out amongst the greenery of the shrubs and trees and finally coming to anchor on the edge of the bird bath.

And there was a bright scarlet tanager, one of the prettiest birds in all birdland. The scarlet tanager used to be quite common as a spring visitor in these parts and their bright coats as they hopped around the lawns among the yellow dandelion blossoms used to be a beautiful sight, but for some reason or other during the last several years the bright scarlet bird has been absent from around here and it seemed like old times to see one flashing about amidst the green leaves once again.

VANDALISM

We have heard a lot of reports lately about reckless driving on the part of some young autoists who seem to take a particular delight in racing thru the cemetery and not being able to make the sharp turns go right ahead and run over graves damaging the lots, smashing into headstones and doing a lot of damage with reckless abandon.

We've had a lot of experience with youthful vandals ourselves, raiders from the school next door who have repeatedly broken into our barn and done a lot of damage, the latest being to smash a bird bath we'd just purchased last year and an attempt to set fire to a brush pile back of the barn.

About a year and a half ago the school was going to fence their playground which would have kept the kids at home, but the money got used for something else and now we are assured that they'd like to build that fence but they just haven't got the money.

Well if they can spend money to modernize those country schools for use this fall, it just might be a good idea to modernize their playgrounds by building a fence that would keep the kids on the home grounds and prevent their damaging neighbor's property. At least a good fence is needed if the discipline has fallen to such a point that the school authorities just can't keep the kids on the home grounds.

NO THREE BAD

There is an old saying that when the fruit trees are in bloom we have "three bad men," come along three cold rainy days that knock off the blossoms and keep the fruit growers wondering if they are going to do any great damage to the crop.

And more often than not those sort of days do come along just about the time the fruit trees are in full bloom but as this is being written "the three bad men" have failed to put in an appearance this year and the fruit trees are surely a mass of beautiful and promising bloom right now.

Maybe this has been such an extremely outlandish season — one which has broken so many traditions and records, that it's going right ahead and break another one. Maybe we're going to get by this spring without those bad days during blooming time: Maybe the "three bad men" got sidetracked for once.

GOOD WEATHER AHEAD

No matter what has been in the past or how rough the weather may be for a week or two yet, good settled weather is coming. On Monday, June 19, the Arlington Park race meeting will open and if there is any group on earth that stands well with the weather man it's those fellows.

When Arlington opens the real fine summer weather is here for six weeks anyway. Oh there may be a few showers along about opening day, but for a six weeks stretch of good weather just look to Arlington Park.

And Arlington Park opens June 19 so get out the summer clothes, the straw hats, and all the rest of warm weather outfits. When Arlington opens the nice weather is really here to stay for awhile.

MAYBE THEY'RE HERE

Monday morning and a steady rain is falling. Maybe the "three bad men" have put in their appearance after all. Conditions are just right, what with the fruit trees all in bloom and all.

Weekly recipes

Top off your meal with this tip-top recipe for Apple Pudding. Once you have enjoyed this you will count the days, hours and minutes until you can return for some more.

Apple Pudding

Yield: 8 servings.

Bits o' business

This motorized age isn't worrying the nation's bicycle makers. Three out of every four American boys between the ages of 7 and 15 are bike buyers, a recent survey reveals. More than half of the vehicles in current use were bought within the last four years. . . . An idea of what's been taking place in the economy during the last 10 years may be gained from a glance at shoe workers' wages then and now. In January 1941 the average weekly paycheck in the industry was $19.58. In January 1950 it was $40.69, a 108 per cent boost. The cost-of-living increase for the same period, 86 per cent. HOBBIES Yours and Mine

Tops in the hobby field according to Life magazine is the fascinating pastime of stamp collecting. There are ten million collectors in the United States alone a number of magazines published for this group and the Bible of philatelists is Scotts Catalogue which lists every stamp known.

A very interested stamp collector is Mrs. M. W. Grigsby at 1144 Harvard rd., Arlington Heights.

"MY HUSBAND started a stamp collection many years ago—and then he got our son, Dick, interested," said Mrs. Grigsby as she started to show me her collection. "But Dick decided he liked magic better, and so I just started to clean up the loose stamps and catalogue them to get them out of the way—and I got interested myself," she laughed.

Mrs. Grigsby is a general collector which means she collects world wide stamps. I learned there are some who collect only a certain country—and others called tropical collectors who specialize in stamps with pictures of flowers, trees, or religious scenes, animals or flags, and they collect only those in their specialized field.

"I certainly don't have as many stamps as lots of other collectors as I've only been at it myself for five years and you should really keep at it all the time," explained Mrs. Grigsby. "I find when I start working on my stamps I get so interested the rest of my work really suffers."

She feels that stamp collecting is educational as well as recreational.

"JUST THINK," she declared and her eyes fairly sparkled. "You can study history, past and present, geography, current events and be an arm chair traveler as well."

Mrs. Grigsby showed me how German back before the last World War clearly showed inflation in even their stamps — and how the influence of Hitler and his party was felt even before he was in actual power. The same was true in Italy and by studying stamps you can see which country is spreading propaganda and influence over another.

Some countries print odd shaped stamps—or use bright colors. Others like Switzerland make their stamps miniature works of art.

Many collectors trade with other collectors and add to their collections this way. Very often, in assorted packets you buy, there may be a few special stamps. THE FENCE POST

On behalf of the Board of Governors and the campaign organization of the Chicago Heart Association, I wish to thank you for your splendid co-operation in publicizing the 1950 Heart Campaign in your editorial columns.

By presenting the facts concerning heart disease to your readers, you have helped create a public awareness of the problems involved and have stimulated contributions to combat this number one health menace through research, education, and community service.

S. DeWitt Clough, Chairman, Board of Governors.

Juvenile court protects youthful first offenders

In his handbook on "Police Procedures in Juvenile Cases," Judge Robert Jerome Dunne lists three ways in which the police officer can help to control and prevent juvenile delinquency.

One way is for the officer to learn the trouble spots on his beat and in his own community, the places where the atmosphere is obviously bad for children or where trouble-makers congregate.

Judge Dunne advises police to warn children away from such places and to notify their parents if the kids ignore the warnings. Laws regarding minors, frequenting such places should be enforced.

And an alert officer will visit places of recreation where large groups of juveniles are found, such as skating rinks, "to make sure that decent standards of behavior prevail."

Another way for policemen to help stamp out delinquency is to question children who habitually loiter on the streets late at night. In fact, after a preliminary warning, such cases should be referred to the court's attention, says Judge Dunne.

The third way listed by the judge is for the officer to do his job in such a way as to always have the admiration and respect of the children he meets.

Village and township police officers have no greater powers than those outlined for city officers, nor do police magistrates and justices of the peace outside of Chicago have any jurisdiction over children of Juvenile court age.

The JP's duty is to transfer all juvenile cases in his area to the Juvenile court.

To save youngsters from having criminal records, the Municipal court of Chicago and the Criminal court of Cook county are advised to refer juveniles on trial to the Juvenile court.

If pictures or fingerprints have been taken before the referral is decided upon, they should be surrendered to the Juvenile court. The entire Juvenile court setup is aimed at helping young people avoid crime and criminal records, rather than at wanton punishment for minor offenses.

HOUSE FOR SALE

There would be little to distinguish between a modern house-for-sale and that of a wealthy Roman's house in about 30 A. D. According to The World Book Encyclopedia, the latter would read something like this: "Spacious 30-room stone house, hot air furnace, running water, kitchen with built-in oven, landscaped central court with pool." The Roman probably would assume that you knew he had glass windowpanes and artificial lighting — provided by oil lamps.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Dear Jane:

Now I know how these young mothers keep their slender figures! Looking after the needs of a tiny baby keeps one on the hop from early morning until bedtime. Believe me, there isn't much time left to give to sitting and eating. I know—I've just finished taking care of my granddaughter for five days.

Perhaps you haven't thought much about baby schedules lately. I hadn't for eleven years, but I can tell you all about the program of a certain five month old kid now.

It took me two of the five days to get back into the swing of things, and then I found everything going along fairly smooth and I was enjoying my granddaughter, her parents came back and took her home.

There is a great stillness here at the farm today. I am alone once again and I can't say I'm enjoying myself. I'm at loose ends. When you consider the routine I followed for the days the baby was here, plus the usual program for Bob and the boys, I may be somewhat justified in having that old "let-down" feeling.

Megan's schedule is as follows: She awakens anywhere from five to six in the morning. She is picked up, diapered, and given a bottle of milk. Following the consumption of milk, she is put back in her bed and encouraged to amuse herself with her toys until she grows "sleepy" again. She often does off for an hour, during which time I prepared breakfast for my family and fixed Edward's school lunch.

When it was time to leave for school and train, Megan was wrapped warmly for the ride. After our return it was time for orange juice and percomorphum (fish oil concentrate, in case you've forgotten).

Then we rested, that is, she did in her carriage close by the kitchen sink, so she could see and hear me while I washed dishes. At nine or nine fifteen she was always ready for her meal of pabulum and milk, and which a beaten raw egg is added. It seems she doesn't care for eggs in any other way, just at present. She eats this quickly from a spoon and then finishes up with her adored bottle of warm milk.

By ten or ten fifteen she is restless for what I believe she knows is her bath time. Anyway, she becomes a very happy little girl the minute she is placed in the water. It's a real joy to give her a bath. She splashes furiously and doesn't seem a bit frightened if the water hits her face unexpectedly. A long nap follows this exercise, either in her carriage outdoors, if the weather permits, or in her bedroom.

When she again awakens, the usual diapering takes place (the latter a frequent occurrence) and she is ready to eat again. This time the meal consists of strained vegetables, or strained beef and liver, followed by pudding, ending with as much milk as she will drink. Do you remember when we had to cook the fresh vegetables and meats and strain them through a fine sieve? This chore is eliminated today because of the great variety of fine baby foods already to use which Gerber's and Clapp's and others have put out on the market. What a boon to parents!

After this meal Megan is taken outdoors again. Orange juice at four o'clock, and evening meal consists of stewed strained fruit and milk. To bed for the night around eight o'clock for a long sleep until six the next morning.

I have found that once a person has been away from the care of an infant for a considerable length of time, such as I have been, it takes considerable thought to make out a workable and easy schedule. It's workable for the mother, but grandmother has to learn again about adjustments. She has to consider the best interests of not only her grandchild, but the interests of the rest of the family. She must teach herself all over again. And she must constantly remind herself that she is only the grandmother and not allow herself the privileges that belong only to the parents. This can be a difficult thing to achieve, for grandparents are often apt to indulge, over-indulge, their grandchildren and unconsciously try to usurp the parents' position in relation to the child. It can be so easy to close one's eyes to the faults of grandchildren, where the good parent sees all and therefore is in the best position to assume the responsibility of guardianship.

So many thoughts run through my mind today, now that I am not concerned with the care of little Megan for the present, and have time to think about other things than bottles and diapers. I think about wanting to be a good grandmother. The kind that keeps an open house for all her grandchildren, with a cookie jar in the pantry, always filled with tasty treats for searching hands, book shelves that abound with just the stories children like, and an atmosphere of love and contentment throughout and within the walls of their "second home."

Family and home ties were never more important or more needed than they are today. Do you agree?

With love, Mary.

In the future

Ideal for the smoker who can't remember to refill his cigarette lighter is a gas-fired model said to operate 2700 times without refilling. It's equipped with a butane gas cartridge, needs neither wick, wheel, nor cap. . . . And if you insist on smoking in bed, in defiance of ghastly statistics and common sense, you'd better get yourself one of the new "Safe-T-Smoker" holders, which encase cigarettes in wire mesh. The mesh catches sparks and ashes, dissipates the heat, and always stays below the "flash point." Even contact with paper won't start a blaze, the maker claims. . . . Lightweight plastic sun- and salt-proof wading boots for fishing fans are waist-high, come with two large inside pockets to keep matches, cigarettes, and extra tackle dry. . . . The problem of how to keep white sidewall tires clean can be solved with a product prepared especially for this purpose. It's also good for polishing brass and cleaning exhaust soot from bumpers.

of the County Board said he would request personnel of the County Highway Department to adopt the new term, and suggested that the general public also should note the difference.

"An Expressway affords speed with safety by eliminating all intersections at grade and limiting the points at which traffic may enter and leave the road," said Erickson. "The so-called superhighway was superior to horse and buggy roads because it had three or four lanes and some grade separations, but it lacked the overall design for speed and safety that make the expressway adequate to modern traffic requirements."

New ideas for that home

THE BRADFORD has its entrance vestibule in a location which permits this house to be placed easily with its narrow side to the street. This plan is expedient for a narrow lot.

The Bradford's plan calls for two bedrooms, a kitchen-dinette combination and a living room. All rooms in the house open into the bedroom hall, allowing privacy in circulation. Closet space is ample in The Bradford. There is a coat closet in the front vestibule. There is a linen closet and a general storage closet in the hall. And there are wardrobes in each of the two bedrooms.

The Bradford's attached breezeway and garage are optional. When present, they give width to the house. The Bradford's straight walls and low roof lines make it an economical house to frame. The Bradford is also adaptable to the use of concrete block construction.

Plans shown, call for frame construction with siding. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

Overall width of The Bradford is 59 feet. The main body of the house is 40 feet by 24 feet. The area is 947 square feet with 18,192 cubic feet.

For further information about THE BRADFORD, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Gls must plan now for summer school sessions

Veterans planning to attend summer school under the GI Bill should start making necessary arrangements now, Veterans Administration said.

First, they should determine whether their V-A certificates of eligibility are in order. And, if they are changing courses, they should learn from V-A whether they will be required to undergo advisement and guidance.

A veteran who is now in school and who intends to continue this summer in the same school and the same course need merely register at his school. His present certificate of eligibility, on file with V-A, is sufficient.

BUT IF HE wants to continue in the same course but at a different school, he should apply at once for a supplemental certificate of eligibility at his nearest V-A office. On his application, he must list the name, of the new school and name of course. The application should be sent to the V-A regional office having jurisdiction over his present school.

If the veteran plans to take a different course this summer, either in his present school or at another school, he will have to take one, and possibly two, steps.

First, he should apply for his supplemental certificate of eligibility.

Second, he should find out from V-A whether his new course is or is not in the same general field as his present one. If it is found to be in the same general field, the supplemental certificate is all that's required.

If it's found to be in a different general field and his need of the new course has been determined, he may be required to take advisement and guidance from V-A to find out his aptitude for the new course.

As a final step to be taken as soon as possible, veterans should make certain that the school they wish to attend has room for them. Many summer classes will be overcrowded and are receiving more applications than they can handle.

Famed lilacs, tulips in bloom at Lombard park

Lilac Time in Lombard, annual festival of lilacs and tulips that draws admiring visitors from over the United States, was expected to arrive at its most colorful stage this week, to remain a pageant of beauty by day and night for several weeks to come.

Those who view the Lombard floral park this year will enjoy a top spectacle. Just as spring blossoms of every type are in rarely profuse bloom, the hundreds of hybrid lilac shrubs have been crowded with developing trusses. Happy circumstance, too, is that the 75,000 tulips in the park, including many new varieties, should reach their finest stage of bloom along with the major part of the lilac show. There are more than 300 varieties of lilacs in the big collection.

While most visitors view the park by day, many find the exhibit even more fascinating at night under the flood lights. The gates are open at all times, but during the main season a nominal charge of 30 cents, including tax, is in effect. Children of high school age or under are admitted free.

Annual selection of a queen of lilacs was scheduled this week from a "court" of five lilac princesses, surviving from a much larger field of contestants. She will reign over the 1950 festival and with other members of the court will spend much time in the park in costume for the benefit of the usual horde of camera fans.

Lilacia park was bequeathed to the village of Lombard more than 20 years ago by the late Col. William R. Plum. It has been enlarged to seven acres of concentrated floral shrubs and beds. Stocks are replenished from a nursery in the park, and new varieties are added yearly.

Lilacia Park is located in the center of the Village of Lombard, which is easily reached on the Aurora & Elgin line, the Northwestern or by car from Routes 53, 83, 12th St. or North avenue.

Journal of a Bird Watcher
by F. J. FREEMAN

The highlight of June 1949 was our trip down state when we took Peter to the Egyptian Music Camp at DuQuoin. We took this opportunity to visit some of Illinois' interesting state parks. As usual we camped out. It seems that we find more of the things that interest us when we travel this way rather than holding up early at some barren motel and waiting for morning to come.

Our first stop was at New Salem State Park where we ate a picnic lunch with wood thrush and titmice feeding around us from the picnic grounds. Afterwards we visited the reconstructed New Salem Village made famous by A. Lincoln having lived there for a couple of years.

Much of the rebuilding and refurbishing of the cabins was done under the intelligent direction and with the help of the WPA and is one of the many good works accomplished by that much maligned organization. One of the things that reminded me of the reputation of WPA's was a beautiful pair of brindle oxen yoked to a covered wagon. They were, so to speak, "leaning on their shovels" and sleeping. In fact they looked like stuffed stage props—so much so that when one of them gave an explosive snort, it startled all tourists within a radius of thirty feet. Their job seemed to be to act as settees for children having their picture snapped.

We picked specimens of shingle and blackjack oak which we had never identified before. We found that the southern part of the state abounds in species of oaks which we do not have up here.

From New Salem we went to Pere Marquette State Park near the mouth of the Illinois River. This is a very hilly section and our campsite was near the top of a hill from which we had a beautiful view of the river and Calhoun's farm country and bottomlands.

While pitching camp a skunk visited us searching for food. We did not know whether we should abandon camp for the time being but decided to stand our ground. He came within six feet of me before scurrying off. No damage was done. That night two of them came back and we could hear them snuffing and chewing on things on the other side of the canvas. All night long the whippoorwills whipped and occasionally a cuckoo sang. In the morning white-breasted nuthatches came through camp feeding their young and wood thrush, cardinals and titmice were numerous. We saw many redbuds and flowering dogwood and identified the mockernut hickory and yellow oak.

After breakfast we drove to the quaint little river town of Elsah situated in the wooded ravine whose creek empties into the Mississippi river. At Elsah is situated The Principia college for Christian Scientists. As a result Elsah manifests a sense of quiet well-being and culture associated with institutions of learning. On the campus grounds, high up on the bluffs overlooking the river, we identified the bitternut hickory and the Bumelia, a small thorny tree. We saw also broad-winged hawks and turkey vultures. Along the roadsides we found the dickcissels were very common as was also the bobwhite.

DuQuoin lies southeast of Elsah and we arrived there by late afternoon. After installing Peter at the Music Camp, we drove on south to Giant City State Park for the night. The camp ground was filled with picnicers, and we were the only campers. That night as dusk fell, we walked down a side road leading off into the hills where we discovered some ripe raspberries. These we picked as we walked back listening to the calling of the bob-whites and whippoorwills. We also heard the calling of one chuck-will's-widow—a bird similar to the whippoorwill but a separate species. As it got dark the people left, quiet fell over the camp ground and we turned in. Then somewhere on the grounds a puppy began to whine and howl. The loneliness and fear of the dark, and we had hard things to say about people who abandon pets. About 10:30 we heard an old jalopy slam-banging down the hill without lights. The driver tried to make the turn onto the side road leading over a rickety bridge and then his engine died. The battery was evidently gone so when he tried to crank it, it just buzzed like it does in winter when it is too cold. He whistled for help, cranked the car, buzzed the battery, slammed the car door getting in to adjust the ignition, and then kept up repeating the process over and over. Meanwhile the dog howled. Suddenly we heard a rhythm as though someone was slapping on a leather cushion followed by an Indian war-whoop and a lot of laughter. One of the parties which had stayed behind had come to life. They packed themselves up and drove off paying no attention to the man in the car nor the puppy. Finally the man walked off—we could hear his footsteps going by up the road and left us with the howling dog. We surmised later from talking with the park custodian that it was one of his pups which had strayed and gotten caught out in the night. The whole affair was the epitome of ignorance and poverty, and only the morning sunshine and singing birds made us feel that all was well with the world.

The Carolina wren and white-eyed vireo entertained us with their loud and beautiful songs. We heard the call of the pileated woodpecker and glimpsed him before he flew off. We found the polypody fern, sweet gum, Mahaleb cherry. We saw the shining sumac with winged leaf stalks, the chinquapin oak, basket, shingle and swamp oak. We found a footprint where an animal had scratched a shallow groove in the ground. This mysterious footprint was as though it had been made by a Micky Mouse. It was about four inches across and three and a half inches deep and played out from a triangular pad. There were only four toes and these were long, fat and slightly spatulate. There were no claw marks.

From Giant City State Park we left for old Shawneetown via the apple and peach orchard country. From here on it was a mixture of orchards, hummingbirds, mockingbirds; then Shawneetown and a catfish dinner; a view of the wide Ohio from atop the old levee; oil well country with pumps going up and down in fields all by themselves; winding rivers; flatter and flatter fields with less and less trees and finally home again in the evening.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is there any certain number of bridesmaids one should have at a church wedding?

A. No; there is no set rule governing this. One may have anywhere from four to eight at a large formal wedding, but one or two will serve just as well at a small wedding.

Q. If a man meets a woman on the street and walks with her, should he continue to smoke his cigar or cigarette?

A. No; he should throw it away, or at least hold it between his fingers without smoking.

Q. Should the envelope containing a card or letter of introduction be sealed?

A. No; a letter or card of introduction should not be sealed.

Q. If you are being introduced to someone whom you have met before, but who shows plainly that he or she does not remember the occasion, what should you do?

A. It would be best merely to say, "How do you do," and not recall the previous meeting.

Q. What is the proper way to acknowledge a wedding announcement?

A. Announcement cards need no acknowledgment, although carefully courteous persons like to mail congratulatory cards or brief notes of good wishes to the newlyweds soon after the receipt of an announcement.

Q. When one has finished dining in a restaurant or hotel dining room, what should one do with the napkin?

A. Place it unfolded on the table next to the plate.

Q. What seats are occupied by the family of the bride and bridegroom at a church wedding?

A. Those on the left-hand side of the center aisle in front are for the bride's family; those on the right are reserved for the bridegroom's family.

Q. Is it proper to butter a whole slice of bread or a whole bun before biting into it?

A. No; the proper way is to break off a small piece at a time, buttering each bite separately.

Q. May a calling card be engraved in any color of ink desired?

A. Black is the only proper color in which a card should be engraved.

Q. Should a widow, upon her second marriage, wear the engagement or wedding ring of her first marriage?

A. No; they should be discarded. However, if her second husband does not object, she may wear her first engagement ring on her right hand.

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "He joined the two ends together." Omit together; it is redundant.

Do not say, "The police thought I to be him." Say, "The police thought me to be him."

Do not say, "I have much leisure time." Omit the word time, as leisure means "time free from employment."

Do not say, "I've got to write some letters." It is better to avoid the use of got in this sense. Say, "I have to (or, must) write some letters."

Do not say, "We should have regretted to have seen you go." Say, "We should have regretted to see you go."

Do not say "Such action is nothing but folly." Say, "is nothing else than folly."

WORDS OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Long-lived. Pronounce the i as in life, not as in lift often heard.

Dolce (soft; sweet). Pronounce dol-cha, o as in dole, a as in shay, accent first syllable.

Clique. Pronounce as though spelled cleeck.

Gneiss (a kind of rock). Pronounce as though spelled nice.

Blasphemy. Pronounce blas-fe-mi, a as in at, e as in me unstressed, i as in it, accent first syllable.

WORDS OFTEN MISSPELLED

Jeopardize; observe the eo. Ptarmigan (a grouse); observe the pt, although the p is silent in the pronunciation. Climactic (pertaining to a climax), observe the ct. Climatic (pertaining to climate). Observe the at. Dingy (dull; tarnished); dingey (a small boat). Fain (anxious; desirous); fane (a sanctuary); feign (to dissemble). Idle (inactive); idol (image); idyl (short poem).

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Amplitude; the state of being ample; largeness; fullness. "Let us consider the amplitude of space."

Tensive; giving the sensation of tension, stiffness, or contraction. "He suffered a tensive pain in his back."

Fraught; filled; laden. "The situation was fraught with evil."

Precarious; uncertain; not firmly established. "His position in politics has become somewhat precarious."

Motor club predicts auto deaths for Memorial week end

Twenty-three traffic fatalities and 874 injuries throughout Illinois will mark the opening of the summer motor season over the 4-day Memorial Day period, Saturday through Tuesday, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, predicted this week.

"This is four fewer deaths than were experienced last year over the Friday 4 p.m. to Monday midnight week end. The work day on Monday, May 29, will probably keep travel somewhat below last year's and may save lives," he said.

To improve prospects of safe holiday travel, the Chicago Motor Club recommended the following four-point program to motorists:

1. Schedule holiday activities to eliminate driving when fatigued or after consuming alcohol.

2. Schedule trips to reduce or eliminate night driving, producer of two thirds of all fatalities.

3. Increase margins of safety, particularly passing or following distances, and control speed at intersections, railroad crossings and on curves.

4. Make sure that brakes, windshield wipers, lights, and all safety equipment are in good operating order.

Elgin Bible Clinic host to two Bible classes

The Elgin Bible Clinic was host Thursday night at Lord's Park to the Algonquin Bible class and the Fox River Grove Bible class. Members came from sixteen different towns. A potluck supper was served to a capacity crowd in the pavilion.

The evening program, at which Evangelist Helen Grupe and Asa App of Elgin presided, was held with great enthusiasm. The choir, stringed band, and members of the orchestra from the Barrington Center Bible church presented the music.

Evangelist Helen Grupe, pastor of the Barrington Center church, who regularly teaches the Algonquin and Fox River Grove Bible classes, brought the evening to a close with a brief message on "Unity of the Spirit."

Dept. of Agriculture has plenty of troubles

The President's reorganization plan No. 4 which was submitted to Congress March 13 has come up against a good many stumbling blocks. It was designed to reorganize the U. S. Department of Agriculture and came supposedly as a result of the Hoover Commission Report. The reorganization plan, as presented, does not follow the organizational structure outlined by the Hoover group, and several Senate agricultural leaders, several farm organizations, including the AFBF, and all but one member of the original task force which worked on the USDA reorganizational proposal of the Hoover Commission are opposed to the President's plan.

It seems that Plan 4 constitutes a general grant of authority to the Secretary of Agriculture without the direction or guidance due him in order to carry out any phase of reorganization recommended by the Hoover Commission or its Task Force on Agriculture. The major objection to the plan is that it is regarded as giving an unwieldy grant of general authority and power to the Secretary.

Truck growers oppose separation extension service

The Cook County Truck Growers and Farmers Association sent a protest to Dean H. P. Rusk of the College of Agriculture opposing separation of the Farm Bureau and the Extension Service (Farm Adviser). At this writing Dean Rusk of the College of Agriculture is in Washington testifying as to the desirability of leaving Illinois and other states who retain contractual relationships with Farm Organizations in employment of the Farm Adviser alone. In many states the Farm Adviser is employed locally by the county government and his office is lodged in the Court House, Illinois and some other states wish to keep the Extension Service free of political tie up and keep direction in the hands of farmers make agreements with farm organizations.

In Cook County for a number of years an agreement was drawn up, now existing as a gentleman's understanding, between the Farm Bureau and Truck Growers. These organizations have integrated their activities in many fields of endeavor such as marketing problems—Blue Cross Hospitalization, legislative problems, and especially in Agricultural Extension Work. In this field the Extension Work in vegetable production is carried largely by the Truck Growers and properly so, the Truck Growers bearing most of the expenses of the Winter Growers Schools, etc. This legislation would bar the Truck Growers as well as the Farm Bureau from this participation.

APPARENTLY this legislation is sponsored by other organizations who favor huge governmental spending and regimentation of our economy by governmental bodies.

Mr. Sauer in his letter to Dean Rusk points out that while the Farm Bureau and Truck Growers are friendly rivals in the auto insurance fields, this does not concern the work of the Extension Service as the Farm Adviser does not have any connection with auto insurance.

In a spot check of members of both organizations last fall as to whether this relationship should be continued between the two organizations not a single "no" vote was registered.

Modern farm home lighting

We've come a long way since the first farm homesteads wired for electricity boasted a lone bare bulb in the center of the ceiling to light a room.

Today's modern homemaker has learned that it's no longer necessary to work in her own wearisome shadow. In fact, with proper lighting, her kitchen can be as bright and cheerful as the out-of-doors itself.

The cosy farm kitchen pictured above with its gay yellow-green patterned paper has had every dark corner erased with a flood of soft, shadow-free fluorescent lighting.

The generous sized ceiling fixture with its two 40-watt fluorescent lamps, gives generous over-all lighting throughout the room. General Electric lighting specialists are quick to remind homemakers to always choose generous size fluorescent fixtures, for unlike ordinary household bulbs, the lamps (which vary in length according to wattage) cannot be increased to higher wattage once the fixture is installed.

Notice in the picture above how the sink area has its own built-in fluorescent lighting to give extra light for difficult-sewing jobs like cleaning spinach, paring vegetables or picking pin feathers.

Truck gardeners choose area vegetable queen

The contest sponsored by the Cook County Truck Gardeners association to select a Vegetable Queen from the Chicago vegetable growing area has come to a successful conclusion.

Elmer J. Steil, chairman of the contest, has announced the winner of this contest to be Angeline Spiniclas Egebrecht of Leyden Township. She will now represent the vegetable growers of the Chicago area as their candidate for Vegetable Queen for the State of Illinois. One candidate will be selected from the entries submitted by the various vegetable producing areas of the State and she will be submitted as a candidate for National Vegetable Queen.

The local Queen has spent all her life on the vegetable farm of her father and brothers in Leyden Township. She can operate any type of tractor and machinery used on a farm. During the year when vegetables are being harvested she has charge of the vegetable stand at Higgins road (Rt. 72) and Dee road, near Park Ridge, where the crops from their farm are sold from the field directly to the consumer. She has been doing this since she was nine years old.

She graduated from Leyden Township high school as an honor student.

During World War II when two of her brothers were drafted into the service of their country, she took over their work in driving a tractor and doing the plowing, seeding, cultivating, etc. At the same time she had charge of the vegetable stand where she kept up with the daily market reports of the United States Department of Agriculture from the Chicago markets so she knew what to charge for the vegetables at her stand.

Illinois tops corn yield in midwest area

"The 1949 Year Book of the Chicago Board of Trade and Bureau Agricultural Economics of the U. S. D. A., in reporting crop yields for states adjoining Illinois reports the following yields of corn which should be of interest to Illinois farmers," says Farm Adviser Hughes.

Corn	Thous. and Acres	Yield Per Acre
Illinois	9,252	56
Iowa	11,303	49
Indiana	4,751	52
Missouri	4,243	41
Oats	3,930	43
Illinois	6,269	38
Iowa	1,450	38.5
Indiana	1,802	24
Winter Wheat	2,007	24.5
Illinois	400	19
Iowa	1,757	22.5
Indiana	1,946	18
Soy Beans	3,177	26
Illinois	1,279	22.5
Iowa	1,442	23
Indiana	857	21
Missouri

"It is interesting to note especially that grain yields per acre are consistently higher in Illinois than the adjoining states. Barring the possibility that Illinois land is naturally better than other states which we do not believe is true especially for Iowa, there may be a difference in soil management practices in these states that account for the differences.

"The College of Agriculture, University of Illinois from the days of Dr. C. G. Hopkins has promoted the use of limestone, legumes, and rock phosphate for permanent soil improvement. More limestone and rock phosphate and better legumes have resulted, and the pay-off is reflected in the above figures. It does not mean we have arrived," says Hughes, "it means rather we have gone a little way in the right direction."

Grass seeding increases 5,000 acres in Cook

"Reports from the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co. indicates an increase of 10% in alfalfa, clover, and other grass seeds," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "Translated with terms of more grass and less corn this means about 5,000 more grass acres in Cook county."

"This within itself is a large acreage, but means about three acres more per general farm—not a lot but definitely a trend towards an adjustment away from our rather large prewar corn acreage. We do not think that this reduction is even over the general farming area."

"We rather believe it will run to about a third of the farms with say 10 acres more grass and less corn this year. This reduction is most likely within the framework of the A.A.A. However, we expect to see the switch to less corn and more legumes continue on other farms from year to year."

"There is one dreary aspect of the Grass-Legume program this year," says Hughes. "It is that established stands of legumes suffered from the winter and many will be plowed premature, and that the spring so far hasn't been too good for new seedings."

"To point out the value of grass in dairying we go to one of our institutional farms under the supervision of Father John Berman. Frequently institutional farms are problems, but Father Berman is a farm operator of unusual ability. We quote from Gerrit Laseur's Annual Dairy Herd report to the University of Illinois on this farm:

"The importance of a good pasture program, which included alfalfa, rye and Sudan grass combined with legume hay crops, was again demonstrated this year by one of the members of our association."

"This member, who had approximately 150 acres of his 500 acres of land in alfalfa, reached a herd average of 395 pounds of fat with a 60 cow herd. His feed cost per pound of fat was 34 cents as compared with 39 cent cost for the whole association and a 46 cent cost for the high cost herd, and was made possible by the small amounts of grain feeds, these cows were fed. There were few exceptions of over ten pounds of grain fed to any cow per day, but the quality of the roughage and pasture was such that in spite of the small amounts of grain a high production was attained at a reasonable cost."

"That this member, who finished his third year in the association, has used his records to advantage is clearly shown by his yearly herd averages for these years."

LAW on the FARM

Collateral Heirs

Centuries ago, when the individual ownership of property first became a possibility and legal rules were created to define and protect it, an important question had to be answered: What happens to property when the owner dies? There were many possible answers, and just about all of the possibilities have at one time or another been recognized by the laws of various countries. The laws in Illinois are an outgrowth of English common law, and generally speaking, is based on two important promises: that an owner should be permitted to dispose of his property by will to anyone he selects, and that if an owner does not dispose of his property by will it should go to his heirs according to a statutory preference from among his various relations.

In making their selection for inheritance purposes, the legislators followed the usual rule that the more direct or lineal heirs (children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren) of the owner should inherit all of his property and that collateral heirs, those who spring from a common ancestor but who are not in his direct line of descent should take only if there are no lineal heirs. Brothers and sisters and their descendants (nephews and nieces) are the nearest collateral heirs, and Illinois law recognizes this—but it also brings in the parents of the deceased and permits them to share with brothers, sisters, or their descendants when there are no lineal heirs. (If there is a surviving spouse in this latter case, he or she is entitled to one-half of the real estate and all the personal property.)

In Illinois, collateral heirs further removed than brothers, sisters, nephews and nieces take by descent only when there are no "near" collateral heirs, no parents, no surviving spouse, and no descendants. When the property does go to uncles, aunts, cousins, grandparents, or other collateral heirs, their order of taking is determined by the rules of the civil law on degree of relation. One's grandparents, for example, stand in the second degree of relationship, an uncle or aunt in the third, and a first cousin in the fourth.

Dos and don'ts when fire breaks out in cars

The Chicago Motor Club has gathered a list of do's and don'ts to help car-owners avoid fires in their automobiles and to help take care of them if they occur.

Don't rely on water as the cure-all for fires which start under the hood, the motor club counsels. A blaze which springs up because of a short circuit or defective wiring is hard to handle with a bucket of water. If it is not put out with the first dousing, the motorist is without a further supply. And automotive experts agree that fires of an electrical origin are particularly stubborn when treated with anything less than the pressure of a fire hose.

There are other and better means of dealing with this type of fire. A small hand extinguisher will do the job with chemicals in quick order. Dirt, snow or a blanket are also effective in putting out a fire which starts in the electrical system. For that matter, any substance which excludes oxygen from the burning area can be used successfully.

The motor club mentions some further precautions. There is that old danger of the lighted cigarette tossed out the car window. It is wafted in the rear window and the driver presently is made aware of a burning seat cushion. As in homes, offices, forest preserves and parks, be sure the cigarette is out.

Gasoline itself is as harmless as water, the club adds. It is the vapor that explodes and burns. That is why it is standard safety practice to turn off the ignition when receiving fuel at a service station. The gasoline fumes then will not be ignited by sparks from the exhaust.

State farm land prices show different trends

Land prices in Illinois are going up and down, depending on the part of the state and the quality of land being sold, according to a study made by W. J. Foreman and C. L. Stewart, University of Illinois land economists.

In Champaign county during 1949, 79 land transfers totaling 6,618 acres averaged $315.30 an acre. In 1948, 68 transfers of 5,178 acres averaged $314.70.

This slight increase might lead us to believe that prices were leveling off. However, during the first three months of 1950, a new high quarterly figure was established for the 10 years covered in this study.

Forty-eight transfers of 4,780 acres averaged $348.70 an acre. During the first quarter of 1949, 39 transfers of 3,095 acres averaged $334.26. This may mean that land prices in Champaign county have not yet reached their peak following World War II.

In McHenry county land prices in 1949 were lower than those of the year before. Last year 108 transfers totaling 14,906 acres averaged $182 an acre. In the peak year of 1948, 147 transfers totaling 15,942 acres averaged $202.

PRICES MAY BE rising again in 1950 as shown by sales during the first quarter. Forty-seven transfers consisting of 6,691 acres averaged $194 compared to $172 an acre for transfers totaling 5,235 acres during the first quarter of 1949.

In Ogle county, land prices declined in 1949 from the peak of 1948. Ninety-seven transfers totaling 12,442 acres averaged $158 an acre compared with 122 transfers of 15,013 acres averaging $176 an acre in 1948.

This downward movement may continue if sales during the first quarter of this year show future trends. Forty-seven transfers of 5,512 acres averaged $149 compared with an average of $155 for 63 transfers of 8,285 acres during the first quarter a year ago.

It is believed that the 1949 land prices declines in McHenry and Ogle counties may be due to sale of land having a lower average quality. Land sold in Champaign county was considered to be of average quality for the county. These trends as shown by a study of land prices in three counties are not necessarily typical of the state as a whole.

State parks ready for picnic exodus

Vacation auto travel is ten percent above last year, the Chicago Motor Club's touring bureau estimated recently.

Week-end family trips to resort and recreational areas are making this the greatest vacation season in history, according to indications at the state parks in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The Lincoln country near Springfield is having a banner year. The Lincoln home, the tomb and monument, and the Sangamon County courthouse are Springfield's main tourist interests.

In New Salem State park, on Ill. 97 near Springfield, an authentic shop where Lincoln worked between 1831 and 1837, is set among 23 replica cabins of the period. The frontier and pioneer days of early Illinois are recalled in this accurate historical setting.

Northeast of this area is Starved Rock State park, Illinois' most highly developed park region. Located in Ill. 71, just west of Ottawa, the park offers a dance pavilion, a children's playground, campgrounds, a souvenir shop and a lodge. This was the site of Fort St. Louis, built by LaSalle in 1682.

Blackhawk State park, on Ill. 2 near Rock Island, White Pines Forest, State park, four miles west of Oregon, Ill., Apple River Canyon park, off Ill. 78 near the Wisconsin line, and Gebhard Woods, on U. S. 6 near Morris, Ill., are some of the leading park areas.

Women have multiple protection from social security funds

Multiple protection for women under Social Security is demonstrated by the fact that women are insured not only for their own wage record, but also on the basis of their husband's earnings, according to Edward N. Novotny, manager of the Evanston Social Security Administration.

Of the one million women receiving benefits nationally, 185,700 are drawing them on their own employment record. A woman may qualify as the wife, widow or dependent mother of an insured worker, or accept her own benefits if those are higher.

As of January 1, 1950, 2,735,000 men, women and children were on the monthly Old Age and Survivors Insurance rolls. In Cook County, 79,120 persons received $1,324,260 in monthly benefits. Women constituted thirty-six percent of this figure.

A claim must be filed before payments are made. Payments are retroactive for only three months, and sometimes women lose benefits because they delay in filing application.

Life expectancy of whale greater than mankind

Man once shared the 25-year life expectancy of a pack-donkey, but over a 2,000 year period has attained a 65-year average—almost rivaling the 70-year expectancy of a whale, the longest-lived mammal in the life chart.

But this increased age has drawbacks in the form of cancer, diabetes and heart disease, according to Dr. Andrew Conway Ivy, vice president of the Chicago Professional Colleges, University of Illinois.

Writing for the World Book Encyclopedia, Ivy points out that the average Roman of about 50 B. C. lived only 25 years. Modern medicine and sanitation now give man at least 40 more years—and a greater chance of having one of the diseases usually associated with the aging of the human body.

Human progress up the life-expectancy ladder is something of a triumph for man, who is not too well endowed with protective equipment. He is the only mammal in the higher brackets of World Book's life chart who is without some form of protective armor. For example, he ranks with the whale, 70; the elephant, 60; the hippopotamus, 40; and the alligator, 40 years.

Domesticated mammals range in life expectancy from the dog, 10 years, to the cow and horse, 20 years, and the burrow, 25. Lowest mammal in the chart is the mouse, who lives from 2 to 6 years.

By George M. Mahan, Executive Secretary
Illinois Federation of Taxpayers

There's a parallel between the recent death of the escaped leopard in Oklahoma and the "security" that the planners are planning for us in America. So says Doctor George Benson, president of Harding College, whose recent analogy, entitled "The Leopard's Free Lunch," is herewith briefed:

Once upon a time, in India, roamed a young leopard, with a zest for living and the love of freedom so intense in all members of the animal kingdom, including man. His principal problem was food, which he acquired through physical exertion, developing into a beautiful and lithe creature of 175 pounds.

But one day, in the great forests, he discovered tantalizing raw meat, all set out for him which he could eat without physical effort—for nothing. He ate the tempting morsel, acquired without effort, because it was too good to pass up. But a trap was sprung and our jungle denizen, no longer free, wound up as a prisoner—secure, of course—in an 18-foot-deep concrete pit in an Oklahoma zoo.

There, he got all of the best things—shelter, protection, free medical care, and juicy horse-meat—all free. He had security, easy living. But eventually he longed for freedom, to follow the basic instinct of work and opportunity.

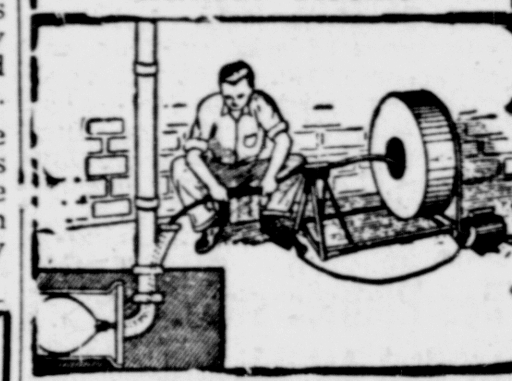

By prodigious self-effort, he escaped, roaming the woods at night, seeking food. But the free, juicy meat was no longer available, so he returned to his captive pit. There the meat was again—another free lunch. He leaped for it, devoured it, fell into a deep sleep. The meat contained an over-dosed sleeping potion. The leopard died.

Doctor Benson reports that the zoo officials grieved. "Of course the zoo officials had only wanted to capture their leopard, protect it, and provide for its welfare in their own way," Doctor Benson observes. "But the planners' plans went awry."

This vital question is thus raised by Doctor Benson: "Are we Americans, like the leopard, trading our liberties for a 'free lunch'?"

Careful handling prevents bloat in local cattle

Some cows bloat on almost anything they eat, but the greatest danger from bloat in most cattle occurs in the spring when you first turn them out on legume pasture.

This danger was pointed out by Dr. R. D. Hatch of the large animal clinic, Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

The exact conditions which are most likely to cause bloat are not known, Dr. Hatch says. In most cases, however, it's due to rapid eating of lush, green legumes.

Cattlemen sometimes pasture legumes for years and then lose several animals at once without being able to explain why.

Usually there's more trouble with bloat in dairy cattle than in beef cattle, he states. That's because beef cattle are on pasture twenty-four hours a day during the pasture season, whereas dairy cows have to be taken to the barn for milking. They get hungry in the barn and overeat when they return to the pasture.

MANY DAIRYMEN and veterinarians recommended giving cattle full feeding of good, leafy hay each morning before turning them out on pasture. This helps to prevent them from overeating the fresh, green forage.

Other dairymen prevent trouble by breaking their cattle in gradually. They let them graze one-half hour in the morning and afternoon the first day and increase the time each day so that the sixth day the cattle can stay all day.

Many other methods are used. Regardless of the method you use, it's probably best to keep cattle out of legumes that are wet with dew or rain.

If, in spite of your precautions, a cow becomes bloated, the safest thing to do is call your veterinarian immediately. Prompt medical attention helps to save hundreds of cattle a year.

Oregon Indians

Before the coming of white men, historians say what is now the state of Oregon was the home of more than 60 tribes of Indians. Most of them were west of the Cascade mountains. Today most Oregon Indians are contained within the Umatilla, Klamath and Warm Springs reservations, east of the Cascades.

Much-discussed first novel story of Sahara Travellers

There seems to be an increasing number of directionless people in our generation. Or maybe there are no more than before, but instead the spotlight has now been turned glaringly upon them.

Paul Bowles' first novel The Sheltering Sky is the story of two lost souls who never find themselves. It is not classical tragedy because the characters are weak and their comings and goings are aimless. When they are thwarted, there isn't the impact that a collision of fate has with a meaningful life.

Port and Kit Moresby have traveled over the world for most of their twelve married years. Avoiding the scenes of the recent war, they go to the North African coast and thence to the Sahara. Port's restlessness has carried him from place to place. His approach to problems is intellectual, and he is rarely able to resolve all sides and make a decision. Fear and inertia govern much of his action. Kit makes few decisions, waiting for the right omen and for Port to decide for her. Mr. Bowles tells us "Because neither she nor Port had ever lived a life of any kind of regularity, they both had made the fatal error of coming hazily to regard time as non-existent." She finally makes both a physical and mental escape from her problems.

Accompanying the Moresbys is a handsome but rather bloodless American, Tunner, who acts from vanity and pity and rarely feels or expresses true emotions. The Lyles, a revolting mother-son combination, turn up at crucial moments.

The picture of Arabian life in the Sahara, the life Kit falls into when she places herself under an Arab's protection, is the strangest and most fascinating part of the book. But even there it is pure physical escape and she drifts along with the tide until forced to fend for herself, an action of which she is not then capable due to the Arab's oversolicitous care.

The story is, however, a realistic picture of the lost, those persons who don't know and aren't able to find out what they desire from life. The fact that they are travelling in the Sahara adds to their essential loneliness. In a small town in Illinois a person just as lost would have his life filled with time-consuming social and economic routines. Against the limitless expanses of the desert, their dilemma appears in its true colors.

State Hwy approves use of $5,500 fund for Emerson traffic lights

Synchronization of Mt. Prospect's traffic signals and railroad crossing gates was assured last week, when the State approved the appropriation of $5,500 from motor fuel gas tax funds for integration of the Emerson street signals into the system.

Consoer, Townsend and Associates, village engineers, are now drawing up plans for the interconnection of all lights. As soon as technical problems are worked out, the project, including the Emerson street railroad crossing gates and the signals, will be advertised for bids. It is anticipated construction work will begin in the fall.

Open new loop state employment office

Northwest side employers and job hunters in the hotel, restaurant, hospital, domestic, laundry, recreation and cleaning and dyeing industries now have a new city-wide service available to them with the opening of the Service Office of the Illinois State Employment Service at 371 West Adams Street, Florence A. Hartigan, manager of the I. S. E. S. office at 5306 West Lawrence Avenue announced.

Miss Hartigan, said that the new branch was established to give specialized city-wide service to employers and applicants in the above industries.

"The opening of the new office means that people living in this area who want work in the so-called service industries will now have access to jobs from all over the city, as well as the assistance of trained interviewers, through the one office," Miss Hartigan explained, "just as our local area employers will be able to draw upon the largest single source of applicants. There is no charge to employer or applicant for this service."

Children's Game

A new way for children to play "Pin the Tail on the Donkey" is to attach small pieces of transparent cellophane tape on each tail for sticking purposes instead of using pins. The donkey, of course, may be fastened to the wall with the same tape.

CHURCH AND OAK, EVANSTON

Presenting the Younger Generation

Sharon and her sand box

Young Sharon Jean Hivon is the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hivon, 104 E. Wood st., Palatine.

"She has reddish-brown hair, dark blue eyes and is a happy-go-lucky youngster," said Mrs. Hivon.

Playing in her sand box is one of her favorite pastimes and she was busy in her box at the time the reporter called. Sharon also displays the promise of a "green thumb" as she faithfully cares for the house plants, watering them with her tiny sprinkling can.

The proud grandparents of this little lady are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hivon, 1643 Forest ave., Des Plaines, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nerge, 104 E. Wood st., Palatine.

Recent newcomer

Smiling Adelaide LaPorta is the latest addition to the Michael LaPorta family, formerly of a 328 N. Plum Grove rd., Palatine.

Her five year old brother, Michael, was featured in this column last week. Since the time this picture was taken this family has moved to Indiana. We were unable to get any further information.

Little Adelaide was 5 months old when this picture was snapped. She has blonde hair and blue eyes.

Little storekeeper

"Happy, gay, and full of the dickens," replied the mother of this pretty blonde and blue-eyed young lady when describing her youngest child.

She is Mary Wilson, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wilson of 28 N. Cedar st., Palatine.

"Mary's life is out of the ordinary," continued Mrs. Wilson. "We own the Ben Franklin store here in town and Mary spends a lot of time in the store with me. She's quite a good little helper, has lots of interest in the store, especially the 'toy counter'."

Mary has two brothers, Paul, 21, and Johnny, 18.

Chicago Fair tickets go on sale at advance bargain price

The Chicago Fair of 1950 got off to a flying start Tuesday with the opening of the sale of souvenir ticket books. Mayor Martin J. Kennedy purchased the number one book from Harry P. Harrison, director of advance ticket sales, and the mayor had to pay $3.95 cash to get it. There will be no free passes for this Chicago Fair.

However, this souvenir ticket book gives a tremendous value to those who are fortunate enough to get one at any of the loop or neighborhood stores where the book is on sale until opening day of the fair, June 24.

The book, which gives a $5.50 value, includes five admissions to the grounds, where 60 acres of "American Achievement in Parade" will be demonstrated by many outstanding exhibits. In addition, the book contains one ticket each to the cypress gardens water thrill show, the big top circus, the ice varieties and two tickets to "Music In The Round," a festival of musical favorites including "The Merry Widow," "Of Thee I Sing," "The Mikado" and "On The Town."

After the fair opens all tickets will be full price—even for Mayor Kennelly.

Navy reduces enlistee requirements

Commander Stanley W. Carr, Officer-in-Charge, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station and Office of Naval Procurement, Chicago, announced that the Navy has lowered drastically the physical requirements for men desiring to join the U. S. Navy.

Effective immediately the dental requirements have been reduced from 18 serviceable teeth to a minimum requirement of no teeth if the jaws are corrected or correctable by a full denture or dentures. The only dental requirement necessary for a naval enlistment is for applicants to have good cheeks and jaw muscles, and to be free from gross dental infections.

Eye standards have been reduced from 6/10 in one eye and 10/20 in the other correctable to 20/20 in both eyes to a new low of 2/20 in each eye correctable to 20/20 in both eyes, and provided the defective vision is not due to active or progressive organic disease. Defective color perception (color blindness) is no longer a disqualifying standard for non-high school graduates. The maximum height has been increased from 76 inches to 78 inches. Former rejected men are now being accepted under the new physical standards.

Commander Carr further announced that the enlistment quota for May 1950 will top 1100 men. Thus the quota for high school and nonhigh school graduates may be considered limitless. All men between the ages of 17 and 31 who can qualify for enlistment can be assured of being sent immediately to recruit training.

Chevy Chase summer theatre to open

14-week season with 'Twentieth Century'

Fourteen weeks of summer theatre fare begins June 1 at Marshall Migatz' air-conditioned Chevy Chase theatre, near Wheeling, with John Carradine and Nancy Carroll in the Chicagoand premiere of the famous Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur comedy, Twentieth Century.

Last summer's eight week season received such an enthusiastic response that Migatz has lengthened his season this year and refurnished his theatre, which is on the grounds of the Bon-Air country club, on Milwaukee ave., a mile north of Wheeling.

Audiences will remember Twentieth Century as a film vehicle for John Barrymore and Carole Lombard. Carradine, known both to film and stage audiences, last was seen in Chicago with Marjorie Hunt in The Madwoman of Chailot. In a departure from his villainous screen roles, he will play Oscar Jaffe, the tempestuous theatrical impresario.

Nancy Carroll, an actress whose versatility also extends to both stage and screen roles, will make her Chicago stage debut in Twentieth Century. Recently, she has limited her engagements to the New York stage and radio, but she is well remembered for her many screen roles.

In keeping with his impressive plans for the summer season, Producer Marshall Migatz has engaged Dan Levin as director.

Mrs. Hope Abelson of Glen-coe, assistant to Producer Migatz aided in rounding up Broadway players for a resident company and in picking the weekly stars. Among stars to be seen this season will be John Ireland and Joanne Dru in Shaw's farce, Arms and the Man; Imogene Coca in Happy Birthday, a recent vehicle for Helen Hayes; Martha Scott in Another Language; and Joseph Schildkraut and Gale Sondergaard in Uncle Harry.

Migatz shortly will begin auditioning apprentices to work with the professionals at Chevy Chase. There will be two apprentice periods with six boys and six girls studying each period all must be over 16 years of age. All those interested in working as apprentices should write to Migatz, stating qualifications; interviews will be arranged later. So far, one apprentice has been selected; he is Guy Owen Anderson of Palatine.

Subscription reserved tickets for the first six productions are $15, except for Friday and Saturday subscriptions which are $18. With the exception of the first play, which begins on a Thursday, productions will open on Tuesday and run through Sunday each week. Unreserved one-price tickets will be available for Wednesday matinees.
